Where the Sidewalk Ends

Sitting on Sutton lawn on a beautiful fall day, freshman Julie Black ponders the new year. The Faculty Office Building got a face-lift, new faculty joined, and beloved members of the Milligan community, such as Duard Walker and Terry Dibble, retired. Seniors finally realized the closeness of graduation and moving into the real world. The country faced a new president with uncertainty and confusion. With the changing face of Milligan's campus and the changing political system in the United States, Milligan students found themselves blazing a trail Where the Sidewalk Ends.

Spirit Filled

Athletes line up for the start of the race, the tip off of the basketball game, or first serve. Bright minds prepare for the first big test in Humanities, and someone prays for a loved one or friend in need. What's behind all of these situations? A community spirit fueled by a love and support and a common bond with Jesus Christ. Whether coming to college as a freshman or transfer student, coming back for a second, third or even final semester at Milligan, or imparting knowledge in the role of a professor or coach, Milligan's community of believers and friends spanned all situations. College became a place of love and support as its community members embarked on a new year spirit filled.

Looking back at the enthusiastic Milligan crowd, Terence Gadsden runs for the finish line in a cross country meet. Milligan fans provided spirit and excitement, aiding students both on the field and in the classroom.

What a Day

What a day,
Oh what a day.
My baby brother ran away,
And now my tuba will not play.
I'm eight years old
And turning grey, Oh what a day, Oh what a day.

-Shel Silverstein

Oh, What a Day! That was the sentiment of most students as the year opened. For many the year was filled with excitement and adjustments. Freshmen were thrown into the college atmosphere at orientation while returning students welcomed old friends and met some new companions. "I was excited about coming back to see all my friends after summer vacation," said sophomore Kristen Speak. "We spent a lot of time talking a and getting caught up." The new year brought exciting new frontiers to explore, along with the familiar favorites of Alumni Weekend, the Fall Formal, Christmas Dinners and more. After the Fall Ball, sophomore Amanda Rubel found herself saying "What a night!" "The turnout for the Fall Formal was great and the atmosphere was pretty, but a great date is what makes the night," she said.

Sliding down a blow up slide at Alumni Weekend, Stephanie Hart finds that a ride for children can be exciting for college students too. Next up for Stephanie was slaying the giant caterpillar!

Getting Started

As the summer came to an end and the dawning of a new school year drew near, the new students of Milligan College arrived on campus with excited anticipation. Eager upperclassmen greeted freshmen and tried to make the transition to college a little easier. Team leaders looked forward to sharing their past experiences of classes and teachers, spiritual growth, and dorm life with their small groups. "I think our love for the campus came out and they could sense it," team leader Amy Ewing said. The new students agreed that these small groups were a personal and positive aspect to their first week on campus.

Fun and helpful activities filled orientation week. The week kicked off with an ice cream social and wrapped up with a new student banquet. In between those events, the school hosted a pizza party, a drive-in movie and a welcome-back picnic. The new students looked forward to these events as a good break from the many informational that packed their first days. "They were all good opportunities to meet new people," freshman music major Michael Douty said. Orientation week ran smoothly in getting the students settled and equipping them with everything they would need to start their college careers here at Milligan.

Watch out below! Enjoying the giant Slip 'n Slide, junior Lori Baimbridge and sophomore Sarah Steele take a dive as senior Gina Wells supplies the water.

Is that Mark Fox or the newest member of a Harley Davidson gang? Showing off his new riding skills, Mark Fox attempts to awe the new students at the new student banquet.

Relaxing on Pardee lawn the first week of school, students enjoy the weather and some good food during the Welcome Back Picnic.

There are some new faces on campus. Chatting during dinner, new students, faculty and team leaders enjoy the food and company of the New Student Banquet.

There's nothing like being at a sunny beach and sitting down and reading your Old Testament assignment. Freshmen Kristen Kuhlo, Jancye Paine and Lindsay Patterson decide to get some work done . . . for a few seconds at least!

Looking pretty and getting a tan at the same time, freshmen Lindsay Patterson and Grete Riggs smile prettily for the camera.

Getting their last taste of the wind and waves before heading back to Milligan, beach trip participants pose for a group shot.

Relaxing Weekend

The beach was an inviting place to be to many Milligan students. On September 15 to 17, about 50 students traveled to Folly Beach, North Carolina, for a relaxing weekend. They stayed at an oceanfront Holiday Inn 10 minutes from downtown Charleston. The trip was planned by Social Affairs and coordinated by senior Gina Wells. Over the weekend there was good weather and it was a time of fun, sun, waves and of course, sand.

Exhibiting Excellence

Milligan has a long-standing tradition of selecting a Founder's Daughter from among the young women of the college, based on character, involvement at Milligan and community service. Of ten senior nominees, the student body selected Rachel Knowles as the Year 2000 Founder's Daughter and Gina Wells as the alternate. Each senior was nominated by a campus club and was asked to speak in Convocation on how Milligan has prepared them to "change lives and shape culture."

Proving that there is life after humanities, a mother and child take a breather from playing and soak up the Alumni Weekend atmosphere.

I see you! Poking his head through to the other side, a future Milligan graduate enjoys playing in the inflatable balloon playground.

Hey this is still kind of scary! Finding his inner child, sophomore Anthony Jones takes the plunge and slides down the inflatable slide.

Making Memories

The sky was blue, the trees were wearing their autumn best and the sun was shining as about 500 visitors arrived at Milligan College. Alumni Weekend 2000 began Friday, October 27, and ended the next evening.

Fun for all ages abounded all weekend, beginning with tennis tournaments Friday afternoon and ending with the Celebrate Milligan Dinner in the evening. The tennis tournament finals were held bright and early Saturday morning along with the annual Alumni versus Students football game—which the Alumni won! For the children, an inflatable playground was set up, including a 26 foot slide and an obstacle course. Childcare was also available in the basement of Sutton. Other activities occurred at various places on campus. There was an Alumni versus JV Men's soccer match and Nevan Hooker's magic show.

A Faculty-Alumni Luncheon honoring Coach Duard Walker in his 50th and final year of teaching took place on Saturday.

The weekend ended Saturday evening with a barbecue catered by the Firehouse restaurant on Hardin lawn in a large, white tent. The Alumni were also invited to the SUB 7 Coffeehouse to hear a concert by Rachel Knowles and Seventh from Adam.

"I don't think that napkin is edible, Sarah." Sophomores Krissi Bird and Sarah Steele enjoy a picnic lunch on Hardin Lawn during Alumni Weekend.

Grooving to the music, juniors Nathanael Pelton and Portia Morrison happily enjoy their evening.

The Fall Ball was a time of socializing, fun and, of course, dancing the night away.

Having a Ball

More than 150 students attended the Fall Ball on November 4 at the Carnegie Hotel. Many did not want the night to end and most students remained in the ballroom until the clock struck midnight. Overwhelming energy permeated the air as students danced the night away. "The Fall Ball rocked! It has been the highlight of the year," freshman Warren McCrickard said. The music, food and atmosphere were perfect for the Ball. "It was truly the best time I've ever had at a dance," sophomore Fran Rose said.

By Jennifer Soucie

"Dancing? What dancing? This is called rhythmic movement, baby!" Students cut loose to the music.

Everyone is having a blast at the Carnegie Hotel.

Hmmm...I wonder if she is smiling at the camera? Michael Douty casts a quick glance at Miranda McGrain as Lindsey Holloway gazes at the festivitiles.

A Joyful Ring

The 2000 Christmas Dinners provided a way for members of Milligan's Theater and Music departments to show off their talents while being a part of a tradition spanning three decades. "It was really cool to be a part of such a long tradition," said musician Emily Fuller. "It was great to be in front of people that really appreciated what you were doing. The ambiance was beautiful, as well, with all the candles. It was just fun to be a part of all that." The dinners featured madrigal style a capella music by Milligan's chamber singers, as well as music from the early music ensemble and performances by several members of the theater department. Featuring jokes, music, a dance competition and the magical styles of "Mistle" and "Toe," the dinners provided fun for all... not to mention black forest cake! Directed by Richard Major and musical director John Wakefield, the dinners ran two weekends in December in Milligan's cafeteria, affectionately referred to as "The Great Hall."

Loving Feeling

Every year, one of the most anticipated convos is Sweetheart Convo. This year's event came on February 13th, 2001. It was hosted by Professors Bill Greer and Bob Mahan who were dressed as the King of Hearts and Cupid (complete with cigar and all). The reason Sweetheart Convo is so memorable and anticipated by students and faculty alike is because members of each class showcase creative skits. Everyone votes for the one they think is best. This year, the skits ranged from a depiction of Andrew Parker and Bethany Haynes warming up for a run to a dance routine performed to the song "Anything You Can Do I Can Do Better." The skits were filled with humor, especially the winning freshman skit by Mandy Patterson and Warren McCrickard complete with its allusions to "Titanic." There was also the completely bizarre skit that consisted of some kind of dream sequence with Tony "Llama" Stanton offering llama pictures for one dollar each. And not to be left out is the totally unforgettable student rendition of "Celebrity Jeopardy" complete with Alex Trebek. To many students, Sweetheart Convo is the most interesting convo because of the humor and the fact that many people know the students who are involved.

By Holly Apted

Anyone Up For a Photograph With a Llama? A freshmen skit.

Love With An Attitude: The King of Love, aka Professor Bill Greer, shares his view on love with the student body.

I'll Take Humanities Test Questions for 200, Please: Jason Evans tries to win some dough.

Anything But Angelic? Bob Mahan shows the rebellious side of Cupid.

Looking pretty: Paige Wassel, Sarah Steele, Rachel Pratt, Amber Neill and Allison Conner gather for a photograph before heading out to dance at the Winter Formal.

Toto, this doesn't look like the cafeteria anymore: Christy Lewis, Evan Young, Stephanie Randall, Melanie Lorenz and Angela Swaim enjoy an out-of-cafeteria experience.

Flowers make us happy: Sara Wallingford and Stephanie Lyons are dressed up and enjoying themselves at the Winter Formal.

Looking Good

The 2001 Milligan Winter Formal was a chance for students to relax from school and dress up. Women were attired in elegant prom dresses while men donned suits, nice shirts and pants or even tuxedos. Students welcomed the break and had fun socializing and cutting loose on the dance floor . . . aka "The Floor of Rhythmic Movement." Whether they went as couples or in groups, students had a great time. The Winter Formal was a time of music, food and of course, pictures!

Kisses Anyone? Julie Roth and Alina Best pucker up for the camera during the Junior-Senior Banquet.

Looking Tough: David Mayer and Adam Johnson strike an intimidating pose.

Remembering Together

The 2001 Junior-Senior Banquet was a time of good food, great entertainment, and, of course, energetic dancing. Held at The Centre at Millennium Park, it was a time where students could forget school and lose themselves in a night of fun and socializing. Couples and groups of friends had a blast dressing up and taking lots of pictures in the clear spring evening before the banquet. There was a professional photographer on hand to capture lasting memories of the night.

The table linens were crisp, the silverware was spotless, and the glasses were real crystal. A large candle stood in the center of each table and added an intimate if not magical touch to the ambiance of the ballroom. After an opening prayer by Dr. Jeanes, dinner began with fresh garden salads, which were followed by tender chicken in a red sauce. A delectably rich cheesecake drizzled with a berry sauce brought the meal to a sweet close. Between each course, guests enjoyed a program hosted by the juniors. Laughter rippled across the room, as memories were shared and good times remembered. Professors Bob Mahan and Bill Greer kept everyone entertained in their presentation of Senior Superlatives.

When the last bite of cheesecake was finished and the last words said, it was time to hit the dance floor. The faculty and administration members who were present discreetly made their exit and soon the ballroom was awash with music. Students moved gracefully to slow music as candlelight danced on the walls. When something more upbeat was played, they had fun cutting loose with any number of creative dance moves. But all good things must come to an end and all too soon, it was time to leave. Students left having enjoyed themselves and knowing that they now had even more good memories to keep and share.

Ready to Have a Good Time: Layla Miller, Josejuan Micheo, Sarah Whetzel, Nathaniel Poling, Katie Fay and Natalya Klinova and their dates pose outside Hart Hall before heading to the banquet.

Simply Marvelous

One of the most anticipated days of the school year finally came around as students expecting another boring day of classes woke up Monday morning to find that it was Marvelous Monday. This year's theme was based on the "Woodstock Music Festival." The weather was bright, hot, and clear as the day's festivities began with a "Flashback Café." Other activities included the extremely popular "Slippy Trippy Waterslide" on Pardee Lawn as well as the "M*A*S*H Relay Race" on Hardin Lawn. The day was a blast with students enjoying well-earned fun in the sun. "It was so much fun relaxing and playing games with everyone in the school. I think it is a really good way to have 'Buffalo unity' for a day," said freshman Grete Riggs.

Students also tie-died their own T-shirts and got their faces painted with flowers and peace signs in classic '60s style. The "Retro Disco Dinner Party" provided students with good food as well as a chance to show off their best '70s garb. Students with stronger stomachs enjoyed watching the ever-interesting milk drinking contest. A trip to the State Line Drive-in in Elizabethton provided a fitting end to a truly marvelous Marvelous Monday.

You Can't Catch Me! Heather Lanning and Wendy Weaver race across Buffalo Creek during the "JAWS Attack! Obstacle Course" on Marvelous Monday.

O gets the square! Noelle Smith, a.k.a. Cindy Brady, competes in Hollywood Squares.

All My Bags Are Packed, I'm Ready to Go: Evan Longfield looks laden down during the "Boss Hogg's Chicken Run" up Sutton Hill.

Pulling Some Weight: Angela McGraw, Shannon Trousdale, Bart Taylor, Jason Harville, David DiAngelis, and Stephanie Randall pull for all they're worth during the tug of war on Hardin Lawn

Ladies' Man! Tyler Dodd enjoys some attention while hanging out with Jennifer Vaughn, Lindsay Patterson, Gwen Richardson and Lauren Horsey.

Let's play a game! Heather Matthews, Sarah Small, Amanda Daugherty and Amber Amland have fun and share a few smiles.

Totally Mesmerized! Sarah Whetzel, Annie Tipton, Junia Gindlesperger, Anita Cannon and Jara Henderson are amazed by something off camera.

Queens of Hart

Hart Hall

Although the smell of burnt popcorn does not linger in the halls, Hart Hall is filled with other things. Like fun places to sleep, RAs who give you candy in the morning with a Scripture verse, more sleep and study. On occasion the Dorm Council has put on movie nights and beach parties. Saturday mornings are always still, so finding a quiet place to sleep is never a problem. My RA on the third floor will sometimes give everyone a little candy with an uplifting Scripture verse. This is always an enjoyable experience when I am stumbling to class at eight in the morning. As for studying, I always know when a humanities test will be because of the lack of people wandering around. The study rooms are always full and the look of death is on many peoples' faces. Although Hart is big and sometimes noisy, I would not stay anywhere else.

By Holly Apted

Working diligently! Hard-working Megan Musaus types at her computer.

Suddenly Sutton

Sutton Hall

“What is this strange world of streakers, burnt popcorn, and synchronized dancing?” The uneducated viewer might ask when first setting eyes upon the halls of Sutton. Despite the stark white mural-less walls and the occasional psychotic screams of its inhabitants, Sutton Hall is not what some have deemed “a psycho ward.” (Granted, this point can be argued.) Some might say that dorm devotions, section pizza parties and the annual Sutton Christmas party are what make this dorm the best. Other would argue that the screams of “HEY EVERYBODY, IT’S QUIET HOURS!” at two in the morning are what really make Sutton special.

By Rachel Knowles

Vegging Out! Paige Wassel, Allison Conner, Jessica Hauck, Kristen Kuhlo, and Rachel Pratt enjoy watching Anastasia.

Housecleaning! Kristi McNeely and Annie Eckstrom tidy up.

Looking Bored! Sarah Steele, Laura Reagan and Kathryn Lloyd relax from stressful college life.

I think we should call Computer Services! Angela Swaim and Stephanie Randall try to figure something out on the computer.

Just Chillin'! Freshmen guys have a good time in the hall socializing.

David, I think the network is down! Russell Cassens, Evan Overbay, David Nydegger and Darrell Asche congregate around the computer.

Pushing Limits

Webb Hall

Trying to sum up life in Webb Hall is impossible. Everyday is different from the first day we walk in to the day we leave to go back home. You will be shaken up by the blasting of stereos or the occasional stalker running through the halls. There is always someone near enough to pull the fire alarm if you forgot to set your alarm . . . for 3 a.m. There is some real bonding here due to the fact that we have all been through and survived terrible moments such as midnight humanities study sessions or having to deal with the plethora of women who call. (Now that is not really terrible, is it?) Everyday being crazy is what makes Webb Hall what it is today. You can take this hall out of Pardee, but you can never take the party out of Webb.

By Dave DiAngelis

Guys and Computers! Nelson Caudill and Travis Deaton attempt to help out Matthew McCollum.

Handsome Studs! Jason Reed, Charles Smith and John Lawson hang out shooting the breeze and enjoying themselves.

Expressing Freedom

Kegley, Quillen, A-Frame

Kegley and Quillen halls along with the A-frame are the residences for almost 60 Milligan upperclassmen. They provide a few more living privileges than Webb Hall, such as increased personal space, more efficient air conditioning and a quieter environment for studying. The lobby areas of Kegley and Quillen are nicer compared to Webb. The A-frame is the most appealing of all the male residences with its family room and fireplace. It has the closest feeling to "home."

By Kent Pettit

Thank God for fire: For Nathan Moulder and Aaron Johnston, it's a cookout and not the cafeteria!

There is nothing like the good old college life: Corey Webb and Aaron Thomas survive on the staples of college life—books, cereal and caffeine.

To study or not to study, that is the question.

Study? Who needs to study? Adam McNett and Ryan Fulcher zone out playing video games.

1-2-3 Hit It! Joselyn Zimmerman, Kristen Colson and Tina Resch get ready to make some music.

Erin Jones gives her feet some quality time.

What's So Funny? Erica Wyse, AnnDee Rettig and Amanda Kershner share a laugh...instead of studying.

Feeling Independence

Williams, MSA

Williams Hall was quiet and peaceful compared to Sutton and Hart, but the girls who lived there still knew how to have fun. Although there were no planned excursions, the Williams girls showed unity through watching movies, ER, Friends and anything else on cable (that is, if you were willing to pay for it.) There was also a Christmas party at Rhonda and Cory Paulson's home.

Once a week most of the residents at Williams got together for a women's Bible study. Many of them had spent four years at Milligan and were happy to spend their last year together.

Milligan Student Apartments, MSA, was another place for upperclassmen to live. There was much more independence than in the other residence halls. Residents were allowed to have visitation at certain times each day and were permitted to cook their own food rather than having to be on the meal plan. Living in Williams and MSA provided students with an opportunity to have independence while still being a part of the Milligan community.

Smart

My dad gave me one dollar bill
'Cause I'm his smartest son,
And I swapped it for two shiny quarters
'Cause two is more than one!

And then I took the quarters
And traded them to Lou
For three dimes — I guess he don't know
That three is more than two!

Just then, along came old blind Bates
And just 'cause he can't see
He gave me four nickles for my three dimes,
And four is more than three!

And I took the nickels to Hiram Coombs
Down at the seed-feed store,
And the fool gave me five pennies for them,
And five is more than four!

And then I went and showed my dad,
And he got red in the cheeks
And closed his eyes and shook his head—
Too proud of me to speak!

-Shel Silverstein

Whether trekking the globe on a Humanities Tour, producing their own one-act play, or showing off their musical and acting talents, Milligan's students found out that they were all pretty smart. The year provided several opportunities, both in and outside the classroom, to show off students' talents and special skills. Several took their talents to Europe where they studied great art and architecture. Others took their passion for service to Cranks Creek in the fall or spring where they helped those less fortunate. No matter how they used their talents, students learned to appreciate their God-given gifts and talents.

Taking advantage of a beautiful fall day, sophomore Kristen Speak catches a few rays while catching up on her homework. When not hitting the books, Kristen helps to organize campus events as president of Hart Hall dorm council.

Voyage

Through the cold and rain in London and Paris to the burning heat of Athens, forty Milligan students and faculty members trekked for 28 days.

The trip began in Atlanta, where the group caught a flight that went to St. Louis and eventually to Heathrow Airport in London. After the overnight flight, the group started their day immediately touring London. This set the tone for the rest of the trip when riding buses and listening to tour guides was the norm.

Every day they saw the most amazing sights and keeping a perspective was hard. "It was hard to grasp everything within 30 days, but the time spent was well worth the travel. It is easy to sit down and learn about something like a cathedral, but until you see it in real life you don't understand it completely," said junior Tom Wiles.

Finally the group packed their stuff up for the last time and boarded a plane in Athens that took them over the majestic Alps and the busy cities of Europe to an airport in Amsterdam where they were questioned by airport personnel before allowed to board a plane to the United States. They were relieved to be in familiar surroundings and thankful for the opportunity they had to see Europe.

"I just wanted to see a sign with English on it," said junior Amanda Daugherty. -Sarah Small

Just enough time for one group picture before the next London sight!

Are those guys gladiators? Amanda Daugherty, Angie Humphreys, Sarah Small, Erin Hogshead and Gina Holtman pose with some hot guys.

In Europe and playing cards? Sara Curtis and Tom Wiles take advantage of long hours on the bus to play a few hands.

The beauty and history of the ages comes alive on the Humanities tour as the Milligan group views the Colosseum in Rome.

Smiling for their first picture together, the entire group poses in one of the many art galleries in New York.

Showing some Milligan spirit, Christan McKay and Andrew Hopper pose with their sign outside the Today Show studio. Several students got up early and tried for a few seconds of fame on TV.

Grabbing a few minutes rest, Sarah Small, Tara Marasco, Sadie Rogers and Bethany Haynes sit on the steps of the Adam Baumgold Gallery, the site of Nick Blosser's art show.

Experience

The annual Fine Arts Field Studies Trip went off without a hitch as 13 students and three professors all had good attitudes that made it easy for everyone to get along. The group enjoyed spending four days and three nights in New York City taking in all the sites and sounds that the city had to offer.

The group was able to view Nick Blosser's art show at The Adam Baumgold Gallery, see the musical Fosse and the play Proof.

Juniors Christan McKay, a theater education and communications major, and Hannah Carson, a theater major, went ice skating at Rockefeller Center and said they had fun sitting in coffee shops watching the passers-by.

Freshman Andrew Hopper, a photography major, enjoyed his night trip to the top of the Empire State Building. Hopper said it was a good place for him to take pictures of the city. He said that the big city was everything that he expected it to be.

"After 12:30 or 1 a.m., you started to see everything that your mother ever warned you about," said Hopper.

-Jessica Hardison

Enjoying a chilly New York afternoon, Hannah Carson takes a turn around the rink at Rockefeller Center. For the students who went, this was a highlight of the trip.

Tedious old fools! Hamlet (Gabriel Morrow) plucks out the beard of Polonious (Paul Blowers). Morrow made a special guest appearance in Derthick Theater's final show.

Looking forlorn over her lost love, Ophelia, played by Shannon Blowers, gazes into the distance. Blowers is a senior Communications major.

Staring down the enemy, Matthew Wilson prepares to embrace his fate as the new prince of Denmark. Wilson is an Emmanuel student who played the role of Fortinbras.

Timeless

The 16-year legacy of Derthick Theater ended in the spring with one final production, William Shakespeare's Hamlet. This production was special in several ways. Not only was it the last production in Derthick, but it also featured the largest cast in director Richard Major's career at Milligan with 33 members. It also featured Milligan alumnus and Actor's Equity member Gabriel Morrow as Hamlet. "Gabe is absolutely brilliant in the role, capturing the intricacies and complexities of one of the greatest roles ever written for the stage," said director Richard Major, Milligan College professor of theater. "Audiences will be captivated by his ability to play the humor in the role as well as the high moments of tragedy."

The production ran February 27- March 3. Other cast members included Alan Handman as the King, Bethany Black as the Queen, Paul Blowers as Polonius, Shannon Blowers as Ophelia, Ben Lee as Laertes, and Adam Meyers as Horatio.

With 33 members, the cast of Hamlet was one of the largest productions in the history of the college.

Something is rotten in the state of Denmark! Dogg's Hamlet cast members smile at their adoring fans.

Dibble Rules! Crouching Tiger, Hidden Lady players express their views on life.

This won't hurt a bit! Christan McKay and Erin Mcrae explain the joys of heart surgery to Andrew Baxter in I'm With Ya, Duke.

Encore

One last performance in Derthick Theatre, and what a performance it was. Six student directors and about thirty actors and actresses combined their talents in six plays performed April 24-25. The Festival of One Acts has become a tradition at Milligan. Student directors produce their own plays for the viewing enjoyment of students and faculty. A crowd favorite was Dogg's Hamlet, directed by Sadie Rogers. This version of the famous work by William Shakespeare featured cross-gender casting, a six-foot-tall Ophelia, a miniature set and lots of acting crazy. Jason Evans wrote one play and directed another, adding his take on life and relationships to the stage. Phil Brown made an encore performance as a director with I'm With Ya Duke, a play about an old Jewish man, played by Andrew Baxter. Kristin Faust also added her directorial and writing talents with an adaptation of the story The Lady or the Tiger. Rich Riddle also adapted a classic Irish play into an Appalachian setting in The Shadow of the Glen. The festival closed with a short film, The Buffaloes, written and directed by Chad Garrison and Winston Ashley Maddox.

Relationships stink! Shannon Blowers, Russ Hertzog, Natalie Alund, and David Guyer star in the look at relationships, Of Love and Indigestion.

Serenade

The 2000- 2001 Concert Choir found fun, excitement and hard work throughout the school year. Choir tour took the entire group to Florida for a fun and fast paced Spring Break. Members sang at several churches and got to play at Disney World and Busch Gardens theme parks. "Tour was awesome," said Lauren Webb. "We grew incredibly close on tour while performing an insane amount of concerts. Two times for Concert Choir!"

"We had a great group," said Heather Brandon. "Some of our members dealt with some pretty tough times, but the choir gathered around them and we became a unit. By the time tour rolled around, we were as close as a family. And we had a blast at Didnie Worl!"

Careful you might get wet hanging out with this group! Members of Concert Choir take the plunge on Splash Mountain at Disney World.

Entertaining crowds with their instrumental talent, the Flute Ensemble plays together

Express

The 2000- 2001 year marked a number of new opportunities for Milligan musical groups. The Chamber Orchestra, composed of Milligan students and members of the community, joined the Johnson City Symphony Orchestra as a feature group. Milligan Singers, an auditioned women's choir, took their talents on the road for good times and fellowship. They headed for Nashville after their spring concert to perform and to shop! The group also performed at local churches and at a volunteer luncheon. The Milligan College Early Music Ensemble combined musical talents in a string quartet, which performed at the 2000 Christmas Dinners. In the spring semester, the ensemble traded a Renaissance sound for a more varied one and performed with the Chamber Orchestra and for a student recital. Meanwhile, Heritage, Milligan's five-member acapella singing group, crossed the Tri-Cities and the country, performing in local churches and in Maryland, Georgia, and Indiana.

-Emily Fuller

Using their vocal talents to praise God, the Milligan Singers sing for glory.

Excellence

This year's Award's Convocation saw excellence recognized in both faculty and the student body. Several students received area scholarships. Among them were Robin Hamilton for the Performing and Visual Arts and Christopher Reed in Music. Christan McKay received the Outstanding Communications Student Scholarship and Emily Fuller won the Humane Learning Award. Students recognized for outstanding work in a specific area of learning included Kristin Colson in Fine Arts, Jeff Harbin and Rachel Hatfield in Humanities, Adam Meyers in German and Grete Riggs in French. Other highlights included the Student Leadership Award given to Social Affairs president Gina Wells, and the Ivor Jones Outstanding Senior Award given to Jason Evans.

Faculty recognized included Mark Peacock, who was given the Faculty Recognition award and a box of Krispy Kreme doughnuts from SGA president Nevan Hooker. The ceremony concluded by honoring those beloved faculty members who retire at the end of the year, Coach Duard Walker and Terry Dibble.

Watching the ceremony intently, sophomore Kristin Kerkvliet takes in the action of the 2001 Awards Convo.

Hug O' War

I will not play at tug o' war.
I'd rather play at hug o' war,
Where everyone hugs
Instead of tugs,
Where everyone giggles
And rolls on the rug,
Where everyone kisses,
And everyone grins,
And everyone cuddles,
And everyone wins.

-Shel Silverstein

Competition gets hot, tensions rise, and Milligan athletes play . . . Hug O' War. Well not exactly. Whether on the court or on the field, Milligan's athletes found the 2000-2001 season an exciting one.

Two of Milligan's women's soccer players played in the Olympics in Sydney, Australia. Closer to home, cross country runners Ryan Starr and Melanie Lorenz ran in the national championships. The men's basketball team had a winning season that took them all the way to the national tournament. In women's basketball action, senior Amy Allen scored her 1000th point.

There were even exciting times off the playing field, as the baseball team got in touch with their feminine sides while putting on a beauty pageant to raise money. Never a dull moment in Buffs sports action.

Kicking Out

This year proved to be an exciting season for Milligan's soccer program. Both the varsity and JV women had successful winning seasons. In addition to the 2000 Lady Buffs posting a winning record of 13-10, members Mercy Akide and Florence Omagbemi were selected to represent Nigeria at the 2000 Sydney Olympics. Akide and Omagbemi were not on the 2000 roster but the team pulled together and went on to have a successful season. Through the season, the Lady Buffs developed into a cohesive unit guided by outstanding leadership and made the AAC playoffs. Coach John Garvilla expects several top-notch recruits next year and the Lady Buffs look to continue their success next season.

Playing Hard

The Buffs went 9-9-1 this year and qualified for the AAC playoffs, but were disappointed when they were unable to advance past the first round. However, Coach John Garvilla said that despite their mediocre season, the team continued to positively grow and develop and he sees a bright future for both the varsity and JV teams. The JV Men's was shortened by cancellations but several JV players played in varsity matches. In an unprecedented event in Milligan soccer history, Derek Sharpe's #8 jersey was retired. Garvilla said that Sharpe epitomized the perfect team player on fire for the Lord by striving for spiritual, academic and athletic excellence. Both teams look forward to having successful 2001 seasons.

Running Strong

In their second season since returning from a 16-year hiatus, Milligan's cross country team continued its success. Despite being relatively young, Milligan's cross country program showed signs of promise for the future. Icy Kenosha, Wisconsin, where the NAIA Cross Country National Championships were held, proved to be a major crowning achievement of the 2000 season. Ryan Starr and Melanie Lorenz both qualified for and competed in the event. Starr finished 70th out of 253 runners and Lorenz finished 142nd out of 248 competitors.

Working Together

Led by Head Coach Debbie Cutshall, the Lady Buffs played a successful 2000 season, compiling an overall record of 21-14. This was a relatively young team, composed of two seniors, four juniors, six sophomores and four freshmen. Within the AAC, the Lady Buffs finished with a record of 14-2, with both defeats suffered at the hands of King College. The Lady Buffs look forward to digging out an even better 2001 season.

Playing With A Passion

This year, Amy Allen and Nicky Jessen paced the Lady Buffs, averaging 13.6 points per game and 12.6 points per game respectively. The Lady Buffs, under head coach Rich Aubrey found the going rough at the beginning of the season but were more successful midway through the year, often winning by double digits. The team posted an 11-20 regular season record, including a 10-10 AAC conference record. "The perseverance to keep going on despite the losses is what brought us closer together as a team and forced us to play our best. Once we did play together as a team, our confidence increased and we went out ready to win each game," said sophomore Kristin Kerkvliet. This year also saw the departure of graduating seniors Amy Allen and Amy Moody. Their leadership brought the Lady Buffs through the season and their presence will be difficult to fill. The coming season promises the younger players an opportunity to step up and take their places.

Shooting For Success

The 2000 Buffs under head coach Tony Wallingford had a fantastic season, at one point stringing together a 12- game winning streak. The team went an impressive 25-5 including an 18-2 AAC conference record. The Buffs were almost perfect at home, posting a 14-1 mark. Lance Ashby led the Buffs averaging 16.7 points per game. They began the season with a flourish, going 6-0 and finished it with flying colors by winning the last four games they played. The Buffs were self-motivated and a combination of leadership and experience contributed to their successful season.

"It's been a fun year. They were a very focused group of guys that worked hard to achieve what they wanted to do," said Coach Wallingford. Next season even though the Buffs will miss graduating seniors Caleb Gilmer, Gabe Goulds and Nathan Jenkins, their absence will allow other younger players to assume their roles.

Catch Me If You Can: Roy Richmond streaks down the court with the basketball.

You Call That Defense? A.J. Hamler launches a three over the outstretched arms of a defender during a home game at the Steve Lacy Fieldhouse.

Showing Support

Whether it was putting on a show for the crowd during halftime or cheering for their team, Milligan's Pom Squad and Cheerleaders were there to support their school. Sarah Curtis was student leader of the Pom Squad this year. The girls choreographed tumblers, jumps, kicks and complicated arm movements to a variety of music, ranging from good old country to Christian pop to the "Mission: Impossible" theme. "The most memorable moments of Pom Squad were all the laughs we had," said freshman Rachel Pratt. The Pom Squad had a good year and look to continue that success into next year. "Ariana Marshall is taking over next year and I'm very excited about that," said Julie Roth.

The cheerleaders also had an outstanding season, incorporating a new stunt into their routine. "Overall I was very pleased with this season and our abilities and I hope that next year we can build on that," said Amanda Diefendorf. The team hopes to continue its success and be even better next year.

For Love of The Game

It was not a world of glamour or fame and definitely not one of athletic scholarships. There were no long van trips or national tournaments to compete in. Intermurals gave Milligan students, whether they were on an official team or not, the chance to participate in their favorite sports. From sinking a 3-pointer in basketball to scoring a touchdown in football to hitting a home run in softball, students had a blast. Many formed their own teams to take on friends and fellow students in friendly competition. These friendly athletic events were a time of fun and camaraderie—and plenty of hard practices, sweat and dirt! No matter whether they won or lost, these students had one thing in common—they played for fun and for love of the game.

Out Playing Golf

The 2001 Milligan College Buffs golf team under Coach Tony Wallingford was a relatively young team consisting of one senior, five sophomores, and two freshmen. With six returning students, this year's squad had experience and was successful, never coming in last in any tournament. Highlights during the year included a first place finish at both UVA Wise and at the King Invitational held at the Country Club of Bristol. Interestingly, this season, the Buffs managed to come in 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th at least once. With only one member graduating, the team looks to build on its success this year and have a great 2002 season.

Courting Success

This year the Lady Buffs had a terrific year, beginning the season by going 7-0. Under Head Coach Marvin Glover and Assistant Coach Gina Adams, they posted a 11-2 overall record despite having to deal with several injuries late in the season. The Lady Buffs were 10-1 within their conference. A young team consisting of two seniors, two juniors, and five freshmen, the Lady Buffs got along and worked well together as a team. Milligan's women's tennis program has a bright future. "With new players and prospects coming in, I think that Milligan can continue with a strong tennis team," graduating senior Diana Marti said.

The Love of the Game

Milligan's men's tennis team under retiring Coach Duard Walker went 5-7 during a regular season that also featured three rainouts. The Buffs came in third in their conference with a 4-5 AAC Conference record. This year's team was a relatively young squad, consisting of two seniors, two sophomores, and three freshmen. Despite struggling early in the season, the Buffs pulled together and won four of their last five matches of the season.

Swinging For The Fences

The 2001 Milligan College Buffs had a very successful season under Head Coach Danny Clark and Assistant Coach Ray Smith. The Buffs won their conference and had a 25-20 record and a 17-5 conference record. There were many highlights during the year. Brad Zachritz tossed a no-hitter against UVA-Wise. Fellow pitcher Dustin Barrett racked up two wins in one day. Jeremy Christian put on a power display as he hit a grand slam. "The season started off kind of rough, but we turned things around and had a great season and we look forward to next year," said Junior Travis Mitchum.

As a team, the Buffs hit .299 and combined for 21 home runs and 362 hits. The team's pitching staff had a cumulative ERA of 4.89 and racked up 207 strikeouts. Senior Ryan Fulcher hit .415 with 7 home runs while sophomore pitcher Dustin Barrett had the best record, going 8-2 in 14 games.

Pitching In

The 2001 Lady Buffs under Coach Wes Holly finished the season just under .500 with a 13-14 record. They also posted a 10-12 record within their conference. "We're a young team and have a lot of motivation, determination, and potential coming out of this year," said sophomore Ashley Fine. This year's team consisted of one senior, two juniors, eight sophomores, and four freshmen.

Sophomore Andrea Henriott led the team in hitting with a .470 batting average. She also led the team in RBIs and total hits. Sophomore Jennifer Trompower led the team in stolen bases with 16.

A Fond Farewell

Athletic Director Duard Walker retired after 50 years of service and inspiration. Walker's son spoke for many when he spoke at an honors banquet in October, "All my life I've had a hero. That's been my father. To me, when you're talking about Milligan, you're talking about my dad and the influence of a coach, a teacher, and a good Christian man."

One Last Hug: "Buffy" was always willing to share some love with fans, young or old.

Senior Caleb Gilmer (4) blocks for A.J. Hamler (21) during the ACC Tournament. Seniors were proud to end their season at the NAIA Nationals. "I think we had a pretty successful season," said Gabe Goulds.

Invitation

If you are a dreamer, come in
If you are a dreamer, a wisher, a liar,
A hope-er, a pray-er, a magic bean buyer...
If you're a pretender, come sit by the fire
For we have some flax-golden tales to spin.
Come in!
Come in!

- Shel Silverstein

At Milligan there's a special Invitation. This invitation is to participate in service in planning and making the campus a better place. The takers became involved in several organizations, including Milligan Students for Life, Social Affairs, Student Government Association, Stampede staff, and many others. Students used their talents in a special way, whether to plan a dance, write a story, march for life in Washington D.C. or hike up Buffalo Mountain. Club members and club leaders found the work sometimes stressful, but always worth the effort. "Being in Buffalo Ramblers was fun," said club member Hannah Carson. "We got to see lots of interesting places that I didn't even know were there."

Hanging out after a rousing game of Cosmic Bowling, Milligan students show their winning spirit. The event, planned by Social Affairs, is just one of the many events planned by campus organizations to bring students closer as a community and brothers and sisters in Christ.

Something New

Student Government gets a new look for the new year

The Student Government Association (SGA) had a facelift this year at Milligan.

With a mix of new representatives, a new executive council, new faculty advisor Jeff Miller, newly hired Student Life Director Julie Ray and a new energetic and animated president Nevan Hooker, they were able to create a positive spirit on campus and shattered the old notion of what SGA meant.

This year began with a New Student Banquet like no other seen before. The unforgettable evening included a few words by Professor Jack Knowles, a short movie by Nevan and Kevin, the remarkable fashion delights of Travis Mitchum as worn by Dean Mark Fox and President Don Jeanes and an operatic solo of the Alma Mater by Kent Pettit.

Also, members of SGA organized and sponsored the largest Blood Drive in Milligan's history, held a mock election that was covered by local news organizations, created the Make A Difference Award that was given out once a month to members of the Milligan community and helped organize the first town meeting to give students a voice.

Lindsay Patterson and Chriss Bellar hang out at the SGA Halloween Party in the SUB. SGA sponsored many of the events that took place on campus.

Emily Homrich laughs it up while playing the "Ha ha Game" at the SGA retreat in January. Retreat was a time to get to know each other in the hopes that the year would run smoothly.

Service With a Smile

Students take the time to care for others

When deciding what to do for the evening, some students found that the most rewarding activity they could get involved in was volunteering.

Clubs like Missions Club and Service Seekers were formed on campus to give students an opportunity to get involved in the community.

The Volunteer Action Center (VAC), run by volunteers for volunteers, was the place to get started. The VAC, located in the Student Union Building, contained applications and inquiries for volunteers searching for a place to volunteer.

Service Seekers, led by Bart Taylor and Carrie Hall, visited the Appalachian Christian Village, a local assisted living center. Here they comforted the elderly and led a weekly evening worship service with student prepared devotions and student led music.

Missions Club sponsored the OXFAM dinner to highlight hunger around the world.

As a national "School of Promise," Milligan students took their commitment to service very seriously.

Right: Members of Service Seekers not only led a worship service but also took the time to visit with the elderly after the service.

Service Seeker leader Carrie Hall visits with some members of the "congregation" before starting the service by leading the singing.

Students make a business of keeping up with campus news

The aspiring journalists, photographers, and layout designers who worked hard to bring Milligan's student publications to life, encountered long hours, late nights and last minute touch ups.

The Buffalo, Milligan's yearbook, worked with a permanent staff of three editors, a photographer and a business manager to bring the 168 page book to life. The creative juices of editors flowed as they designed each of the book's five section and incorporated it into the theme "Where the Sidewalk Ends."

This year's staff included: Christian McKay, Editor-In-Chief; Nathaniel Poling and Erica Yonkey, section editors; Andrew Hopper, photographer; and Jim Dahlman, faculty advisor. Several students on campus also contributed photographs and stories for the various sections.

The Stampede, Milligan's newspaper, also put forth great effort to create a quality publication. The newspaper started out as a weekly paper, but second semester went to biweekly and began to concentrate more on the online edition. The staff, along with each semester's Reporting for Public Media class, wrote stories, took pictures and helped bring each edition to press on time and ready for the student body.

The Stampede editorial staff included: Natalie Alund, Phillip Brown, Chad Booth, Misty Fry, Regina Holtman, Krishana Kraft and Sarah Small. Jim Dahlman served as faculty advisor.

Even before the machine was brought out on Marvelous Monday, the ever-popular Sno-Cone table had a line that stretched across the porch of Hart Hall.

Life Thru Service

Rotaract, Students for Life offer more than service

Helping others makes the life of the giver more full and can sometimes save a life.

Milligan Students For Life is a club that focuses on saving lives around the nation.

Each year they sponsor a trip to Washington, D.C., during which Milligan students participate in the Walk for Life Anti-Abortion March at the nation's capitol.

Rotaract provided students with the opportunity to develop professional and leadership skills while helping the community.

"This year has been a highly productive one for Milligan College Rotaract. Not only have we revitalized the club by boosting membership, but those members have been extremely active in community service," said Rotaract president David Harris.

Leaders included David Harris, president; Nathan Pelton, secretary; Maia Hitchner, treasurer; and a board of directors made up of Lindsay Patterson, Paul Coleman, Portia Morrison, Stephanie Troyer and Jason Armstrong.

Life and service go hand-in-hand for members of Students For Life and Rotaract.

Rotaract's most prominent service to the community is the adoption of two miles of Highway 359.

Rotaract members wrap presents purchased for happy Valley Elementary students.

Another project for Rotaract members was sorting through the storage at the Ronald McDonald House.

On the Air

WUMC 90.5: by students, for students

WUMC 90.5, Milligan's own radio station, opened the year with questions regarding what should be allowed to air and what should be censored.

Led by Station Manager Dan Carpenter and Production Manager Gregg Ritter, WUMC had more than 13 on-air DJs including Laura Reagan who got involved with the station because "music has always been a passion of mine, and I knew this would give me a chance to share that passion with others."

WUMC DJs were required to provide the news, world, local and sports as well as the weather.

The music was a mix of alternative, country, rock, Christian, punk and even classical.

DJs Phil Brown and Tyler Dodd, aka Maverick and Mother Goose, played hardcore and punk while DJ Jason Lee played only country.

Students can look forward to live broadcasting on the internet next year.

Reagan summed up the year by saying, "It's college radio, so we mess up, but it's fun."

During a song, DJ Lauren Keister looks up the most current information available.

WUMC not only keeps students up on current events in the world but also on what's happening on campus. DJ Anthony Ciafardini announces the campus news.

Getting Involved

Students join clubs to get involved on campus, in community

Clubs on campus include both academic based and some just for fun.

The Alpha Chi Honor Society was an academic based club comprised of those students who achieved a high enough cumulative GPA.

Alpha Chi sponsored the Second Annual Campus-Wide Game Show where students could test their knowledge against each other for prizes, including a $50 grand prize.

Members also participated in numerous service projects throughout the year like ringing bells for the Salvation Army.

The Psychology Club shows off their art work after finishing with the carving of their jack-o-lanterns for Halloween.

Leaders included Kerri Klem, president; Michelle Richards, vice president; Shelly Coe, secretary; Jeremy Epling, treasurer; Lisa Hendrix, student rep.; and Dr. Lori Mills, sponsor.

The Psychology Club existed to inform students in the psychology field of opportunities available to them. The club gave informational meetings on psychology related topics while also keeping students current on jobs and volunteer opportunities.

Other clubs on campus included the Racquetters, Buffalo Ramblers, College Republicans, Alpha Psi Omega and the HPXS Club.

Psychology Club members enjoy fellowship together as they keep the tradition of carving pumpkins alive.

Me-Stew

I have nothing to put in my stew, you see,
Not a bone or a bean or a black-eyed pea,
So I'll just climb in the pot to see
If I can make a stew out of me.

I'll put in some pepper and salt and I'll sit
In the bubbling water—I won't scream a bit.
I'll sing while I simmer, I'll smile while I'm stewing,
I'll taste myself often to see how I'm doing.
I'll stir me around with this big wooden spoon
And serve myself up at a quarter to noon.
So bring out your stew bowls,
You gobblers and snackers.
Farewell—and I hope you enjoy me with crackers!
-Shel Silverstein

With the variety of people on Milligan's campus, many students felt as if they were in a Me-Stew. Though students and faculty came from different backgrounds, areas of the country or even parts of the world, all found a common ground on campus. Whether sharing memories at the Junior-Senior Banquet or meeting for the first time at Freshman Orientation, most members of the Milligan community felt a connection to the whole. The talents and unique personality of every student, faculty and staff member made Milligan a great place to be in the 2000-2001 school year.

Fall colors make it fun for everyone to play! This group of freshmen, Brad Parker, Grete Riggs, Lindsay Patterson, and senior Kelly Clark take advantage of the newly fallen leaves to blow off a little steam after class.

Beginnings

Graduation was a time of new beginnings, hard good-byes and open doors for the 2001 graduates. Milligan College held its spring graduation on Sunday, May 6, in Seeger Chapel, with a baccalaureate service at 10 a.m. and commencement at 2 p.m. Joseph R. Gregory of King Pharmaceuticals in Bristol, Tenn., presented the commencement address and received an honorary doctor of business degree. Mark A. Taylor of Standard Publishing presented the baccalaureate address and received an honorary doctor of divinity degree.

The 123 graduates included 35 bachelor of arts (B.A.), 80 bachelor of science (B.S.), five bachelor of science in nursing (B.S.N.), one master of education (M.Ed.) and two master of science in occupational therapy (M.S.O.T.) degrees. The new graduates represented 21 states and two foreign countries, Romania and Venezuela. Twenty-nine students, or 24 percent, graduated with honors (3.5 and above).

Robert B. Hall and Velma J. Hall were also honored, receiving the Fide et Amore Distinguished Service Award. The award is the college's highest honor and is presented to individuals to recognize loving and faithful service to the college. Since 1967, the Halls have been devoted to Milligan College's mission of Christian education. Robert (Bob) Hall taught in sociology and chaired the social learning area, and Velma served the faculty as secretary of the Faculty Office Building. They are also active members at Grandview Christian Church in Johnson City. They retired from full-time service at Milligan in recent years.

The last walk: Professors Duard Walker (left) and Eugene Nix lead the Class of 2001 toward Seeger Chapel. Not only was this the last time these students would climb these steps before graduating; it was also the last time Coach Walker would lead the procession. Walker retired after 50 years of service to Milligan. Professor Terry Dibble also retired this year.

Joseph Gregory presents the commencement address.

Dr. Robert Hall (right) and Velma Hall receive the highest honor of the college, the Fide et Amore Award, from President Donald Jeanes.

Lisa Hendrix (above) captures the present and Stephanie Hart (left) ponders the future.

On your marks. . . Get set . . . :
Graduates-in-waiting prepare to walk up to the stage and out into the world.

That's my boy: Jason Evans (right) and his father, Larry Evans, congratulate each other after the ceremony.

Friends forever: Meredith Orrell and class president Beth Conner enjoy the moment together.

Say "cheese" for the Alumni Association: Corey Webb, Andy Hull, Chad Garrison, and Ben Kneisley celebrate after the commencement and before the rain.

Mike,

We're thankful for you,
your love for the Lord, and growth in Him as you seek His will for your life. Let Proverbs 3:5-6 guide you.

Love always,

Just think, Jen--now you get to write the report cards!!!

We are proud of the beautiful woman you have become, and know you will make a superb teacher. No matter where life takes you, continue to serve God with joy.

"So then, just as you received Christ Jesus as Lord, continue to live in Him, rooted and built up in Him, strengthened in faith, as you were taught, and overflowing with thankfulness."

Dan Drage,

Congratulations! May you continue to use your gifts to glorify God!

We love you!
Dad and Mom

Rachel,

Watching you grow up has been such a joy for me and your Grannie and Paw. From the time you cut your hair to the scary makeup day, you have always been special to us. You’ve always been Paw’s “Honeybee” and my “little girl.” God has given you strength through the years, so keep the faith and God will always be on your side and lead you.

We love you now and always.

Rachel Elizabeth,

What a wonderful gift God gave to us on November 6, 1978. Your life has brought us great joy! The blessing of seeing you grow into a beautiful young lady who's love for your Lord, your parents and others is such a wonderful thing. We know that the life ahead of you will prosper because you will follow the Lord as he guides and directs you.

Love always,
Mom and Dad

Kim,

What a blessing it has been to watch you grow from an adorable baby girl to a beautiful Christian woman. You have given us memories we will cherish forever. As you graduate from Milligan and begin your graduate studies, we know you will continue to shine your light for Him and seek His will in all you do. We are so proud of you and love you very much! Congratulations!

Christy,

What a JOY you are to your family and to others. Your example of FAITH and COMMIT-MENT to God has inspired many. From birth through graduations, God has blessed you. Christy, to you we say: "Delight yourself in the Lord and he will give you the desires of your heart. He will make your righteousness shine like the dawn, the justice of your cause like the noonday sun." Psalm 37:
 4-6 We know you have great aspirations, and want to help troubled children and families. We pray for you as you continue to reach this goal; it is much needed in today's society, and God has certainly given you to accomplish this. "Be strong and courageous! Do not be afraid for the Lord your God is with you wherever you go." Joshua 1:9

We love you and are SO very PROUD of you,
 Dad, Mom, and your brothers

DANIEL LEE
CARPENTER
CLASS OF 2001

Daniel,
You have always brought joy to our lives. We were proud of you as a child, and are even prouder of the young man you have become. May you seek God's will in all that you do.

Love,
Mom and Dad

ADAM ALLEN JOHNSON

We've always known you were a special son. You always had Christ's spirit of love and concern for others. In second grade . . . when you deliberately wrote the wrong answers on your math test so the little girl sitting next to you wouldn't feel she was the only one who didn't know the answers. Throughout your school years you would pack an extra sandwich for any child who might forget to pack his lunch (and there was always a child who was glad you were so thoughtful). You have shown His love to the people of Monterrey, Mexico, and Cranks Creek, Kentucky where you have spent countless hours hammering, painting, witnessing, and sometimes, just listening. Could any parent be more proud? Could a son be more admired or loved? We think not. We love, admire and are so proud and blessed to have you as our son.

Dad and Mom

Andy,
We are proud of you. Now you are ready for the race. Let God be your guide.

Love always,
Dad, Mom, Michelle, and
Mike

Richard,

We saw you grow from a child to a man and we were amazed. Your love for the Lord grew as you did and we are in awe of the dedication that you have for His service. We pray that God will continue to bless you as you grow in wisdom and in the knowledge of Him.

Dad and Mom

You may not know all that the world has to offer . . . but we know the world will be a better place because of what you have to offer it. "I know not what the future holds, but I know who holds the future." We love you, Dad and Mom

Pilgrimage Refo Tour

Is Shane Smith related to
"Raccoon" John Smith?

Refo pilgrims stop to view the grave of Robert Milligan, the college's namesake.

Everybody needs a hug! Rich Volez embraces his Campbellian Heritage.

A stop at Brush Run. Wes Jamison and Meredith Orrell enjoy the site of First Disciples' Church. Mike Girdwood and John Dunbar make up their minds.

Where the Sidewalk Ends

There is a place where the sidewalk ends
And before the street begins,
And there the grass grows soft and white,
And there the sun burns crimson bright,
And there the moon-bird rests from his flight
To cool in the peppermint wind.

Let us leave this place where the smoke blows black
And the dark street winds and bends
Past the pits where the asphalt flowers grow
We shall walk with a walk that is measured and slow,
And watch where the chalk-white arrows go
To the place where the sidewalk ends.

Yes we'll walk with a walk that is measured and slow,
And we'll go where the chalk-white arrows go,
For the children, they mark, and the children, they know
The place where the sidewalk ends.

-Shel Silverstein

Reflecting on the day and his 50 years at Milligan, Duard Walker sits during Awards Convo. Walker retired this year after serving fifty years as a student, athletic director, coach and honored faculty member at Milligan College. He will be sadly missed and fondly remembered.

Where the Sidewalk Ends

Students send out the year with a bang. Fun loving Marvelous Monday participants get a bath in Buffalo creek while reflecting on the fun of the day and the year. The year ended just as it began, exciting celebrations, new expectations and a new frontier ahead. Milligan said good-bye to Duard Walker and Terry Dibble but hello to some exciting new plans. As the capital campaign began the campus was promised a face-lift. Derthick Hall began a complete renovation project and the campus saw plans for a new campus center, including a new campus center and a commons area. The plans for the future seemed promising as Milligan again went... Where the Sidewalk Ends.

Colophon

The 2001 BUFFALO was published by the BUFFALO Yearbook Staff at Milligan College in Milligan College, Tennessee, and printed by Herff Jones Yearbooks in Montgomery, Alabama. Press run was 750 copies.

The cover featured a grey matte base material with black silkscreen and a black foil applied. The theme, "Where the Sidewalk Ends," was chosen by the staff after much consideration. Endsheets were designed using black ink on a white VibraColor stock.

An 80-lb. Bordeaux Special glass paper stock was used throughout the book. A Garamond font was selected for body copy and captions used Helvetica. Headline fonts included Ginnic Sans MS and point sizes varied from section to section.

The 2001 BUFFALO Staff included: Christian McKay, Editor-In-Chief; Nathaniel Poling and Eric VonKey, section editors; Andrew Hopper, photographer; and Jim Dohman, faculty adviser. Photographs also provided by Jason Harville.
