

Milligan hosting Juried Art Exhibition at gallery

FROM STAFF REPORTS

MILLIGAN COLLEGE — The annual Milligan College Juried Art Exhibition showcasing the top student art projects of the year opened Monday and runs through May 2.

This free exhibit will be on display in the Milligan Art Gallery, located in the lower level of Derthick Hall.

Juror Dick Nelson, owner of Nelson Fine Art and Tree House Gallery, selected projects to be featured in the show. Only the best art, photography, sculpture and digital media projects were selected for display. Awards of excellence and merit will also be given to standout pieces.

“This is an important show for the Milligan students,” said Alice Anthony, associate professor of art at Milligan. “It is the culmination of much hard work and showcases what Milligan fine arts is all about.”
