UP CLOSE AND PERSONAL

Summer Humanities Trip, 2005

Last summer while many students were at home working or taking the traditional trip to the beach, approximately forty-five students had the advantage of taking the tour of a lifetime; ten countries in twenty-eight days. They flew, walked, and rode subways, trains, buses, and ferries through England, France, Belgium, Holland, Germany, Switzerland, Austria, Italy, Greece, and Liechtenstein; staying in hotels along the way.

They visited museums and ruins, and saw many famous buildings, statues, and pieces of art. "David was amazing. That sculpture is something I could look at for an entire day, and still want to come back and see the next day," Justin Ciralsky said.

Of course, no trip overseas ← DANIELLE BUSH FOLLOWS THE SAYING "WHEN IN ROME..." AS SHE VISITS THE TREVI FOUNTAIN IN ROME, ITALY ON JUNE 13. PHOTO BY: LISA BRANDON.

is complete without experiencing a taste of the local food, the good and the bad. Many students agreed that one of the best things they tried was gelatti, a thick Italian ice-cream that came in a variety of traditional and exotic flavors. A baked potato topped with tuna was among one of the worst things eaten.

A possibly surprising outcome of the trip was how close the classmates became. Being together all day, everyday, they were almost forced to make new friends and get along. Interacting with each other in an environment outside of school allowed them to see sides of their classmates they had never been able to before.

"Everyone got along so well and by the end of the trip we were all singing Beach Boys songs at the top of our lungs on the bus," Lisa Brandon said.

"That example of unhindered love and compassion for another was the most extraordinary thing I have ever experienced."
- Stephanie Hon

"It's something about being a new Christian and having that childlike faith," said Bowman. "There's something about seeing God that can be lost in knowing so much about your theology, or having a culture project its values on you rather than you projecting your values on a culture."

-Deke Bowman

Internships

Exploring Servant Leadership

Deke Bowman was one of the five students who dropped into the Ivory Coast town to intern with missionaries from Christian Missionary Fellowship (CMF). A communications and humanities double-major from Lafayette, Indiana, Bowman's responsibilities were three-fold: Take language lessons twice a day, serve as a coordinator for the interns, and capture the Ivory Coast experience on video for CMF. Thus, even as Bowman took on new tasks of leadership, his eyes were constantly on Ivorians who exemplified hospitality.

Stephanie Hon received some of the greatest lessons she has ever learned on compassion at St. Louis County's Mental Health Court. A psychology major from St. Charles, Missouri, Stephanie spent her summer making the rounds between the court house, mental health office and jail. Much of her time was spent shadowing a caseworker named Phil McIntosh, who works with individuals who have committed crimes out of mental illness.

Jennie Jacobs is a twenty-year-old nursing major at Milligan College. In the summer of 2005, Jennie was a recipient of the Appalachian Citizens Scholars award, it required Jennie to work with an established not-for-profit agency in the area. Jennie's idea was to work with youth and after talking with the Appalachian Council of Girl Scouts, she learned of a group of girls at a housing development that needed a leader. Jennie's first step was to go door-to-door at the housing development meeting parents and asking them to send their girls to a Pizza Party registration event.

Kate Plaxco and Josh Kaminsky with their team of New Mission Systems interns arrived at the Thai grammar school for what they thought would be an introductory meeting about teaching some English classes. But the Thai teachers had other plans: "There are six of you. We have six grades. You begin today." Before long the interns would be teaching two hours a day at the Thai public school, and at the home of Ahtapa and Leah Sinlee. Residents of a village in Thailand's north province. Josh plans to return in the next couple years to help Ahtapa further his plans of building a Christian public school.

"Until this summer, my concept of a leader was someone who does what he or she is good at. I had no teaching experience at all and here I was, teaching four times a day. And that's what taught me about being a leader--that you don't always have to know what you're doing and its even better if you don't. The whole summer revolved around relying on God."

STUDY ABROAD

Each semester there are Milligan students who take advantage of the opportunity to leave mountainous East Tennessee and travel a few hundred or thousand miles to study abroad. Students have gone to Washington D.C., Costa Rica, Australia, England, and Egypt. During the Fall 2005 semester Wes Cook, Hannah Bader, and Meredith McKinney studied in Oxford, England. During the Spring 2006 semester Adam Farmer and Courtney Hosp were in Cairo, Egypt. While there, they all got to experience the difference in the school systems and a new culture altogether.

In England for example, there was not a professor giving lectures a few times a week to a group of students. Students attended tutorials, where they met once a week privately with their professor. A possibly surprising aspect of the English culture was that going to the pub did not always mean you were going to drink. Pubs were the social centers of the community, where people went to talk and hang out, much like the coffee shop in our culture today.

In Egypt, Adam and Courtney attended school set up by CCCU, it was much different from Milligan, but was not the traditional Egyptian school system either. They had two block semesters where they studied Arabic and Islamic Thought and Practice, and People and Culture in the Middle East and the Arab- Israeli Conflict. During the second semester they studied while traveling all throughout the Middle East.

Overall, all of the students said that their time studying abroad was very beneficial and worthwhile. They grew in their faith, became more appreciative of what they had at home, and made lasting friendships with professors and students alike.

"I learned mainly how little I do actually know. I suppose that sounds contradictory, but it was a very important lesson. There is something incredibly humbling about being in such an intellectually driven atmosphere as Oxford."

- Hannah Bader

"My favorite part of the culture is the hospitality... These people really demonstrate a sincere love for people."

- Courtney Hosp

"While I was in England I bought a bike! It was a great way to get around the city quickly. London is only about an hour bus ride from Oxford. So my friends and I took several day trips into London."

NEW MATHES TENNIS CENTER

The new tennis courts were constructed during the 2004-2005 school year, and completed as students returned for the Fall 2005 semester. The dedication ceremony occurred on Saturday, September 17th at 9am. Speaking about the construction of the new courts, President Don Jeanes said, "The new courts are very nice and will really advance our tennis program. We thank all those who supported this project and continue to advance Milligan's athletic program. We are especially grateful to Dr. Mathes for his leadership and commitment to this project." The Milligan/Mathes Marathon Tennis Tournament followed the dedication ceremony and featured 100 games of doubles played throughout the day. The Tennis Center was named in honor of local physician and Milligan graduate Dr. W. T. Mathes, who hit the official first serve during the ensuing tournament. This school year was rocked by constant construction in the heart of campus for the new Convocation Center. Milligan's Online Community

The latest fad to hit Milligan's campus this fall is all about "poking," being connected to the most people and creating the funniest groups to join. It was all about Facebook.

Facebook is an online directory that connects students to other students on campus. To register, you must have a valid

Milligan e-mail address. Once registered, you can search through Milligan's social network to talk with friends or even get to know people you have never met.

In theory, for large colleges and universities with thousands of students, it's a cool way to meet new people, but it all seems sort of pointless on a campus as small as Milligan.

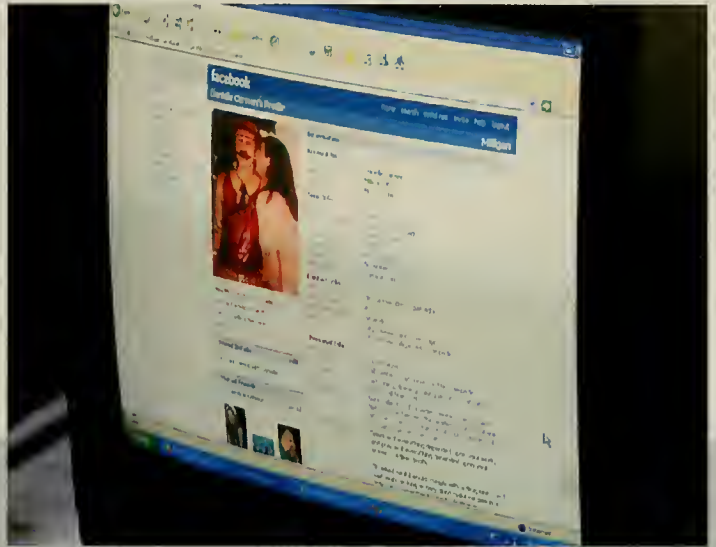

You could simply walk across the hall or down Sutton Hill to go talk to friends. Why do we find it so attractive? Because Facebook is so much more than just that. It also connects Milligan students with thousands of students on hundreds of other campuses across the country. You can reconnect with friends from high school that you haven't seen or heard from since graduation – whether that was four months ago or four years ago. So what's the point? Why are we so addicted? Why do we find it so difficult to tear ourselves away from our computer screens to go to class, to eat or even sleep? Why has Facebook become the topic of all conversations in the cafeteria? Is it simply just another way to procrastinate? Possibly. Or is it simply a way to meet new people? Possibly. But maybe, just maybe, what it all boils down to is not how many friends we are connected to or how many comments people leave on our wall. Instead, what it all boils down to is communication. Will this fad last? Will we still search to find a really great profile picture three months from now? Will we still race to check our e-mail to see if anyone wants to be our friend three months from now? Will we still stay awake late at night searching through our high school directories trying to find that long-lost friend three months from now? Or will we be drawn back to the exciting colors and fonts and designs of Xanga? Adapted from a Stampede article written by Mandi Mooney

Home Coming 2005

Homecoming 2005; a weekend full of activities and events for Milligan students past and present. Homecoming weekend informally kicked off on Thursday, October 27 at the Homecoming Chapel service. The highlight of the service was when Kent Pettit told the story of the Four Fried Chickens and a Coke Club, and the large debt they owed to President Don Jeanes after a misunderstanding at a local restraurant. He recalled the story as if it were yesterday, throwing in many humorous impersonations of President Jeanes. At the end of his story he called the President on stage and presented him the original receipt from Pardners BBQ.

The official Homecoming festivities started Friday afternoon with a golf tournament to benefit the Men's Basketball Team, held at the Elizabethton Golf Course. The rest of the evening consisted of receptions, tours, and dinners for Milligan alumni, as well as a production of Oklahoma! presented by the Fine Arts department in Seeger Chapel.

The 3rd Annual Milligan 5K 2.5 Walk was held Saturday morning. Participants old and young ran or walked a course that started and ended at the Steve Lacy Fieldhouse. Also throughout the morning were numerous class reunions and at 10:00 the Alumni vs. Students Football Game was held, which the alumni won. At 2:00 that afternoon the Homecoming Parade was held along Blowers Blvd. As an incentive for clubs to enter a float in the parade, awards were given to the two best floats. Phi Alpha Theta came in first, and the Roteract Club came in second.

After the parade there was an obstacle course and miniature golf in the fieldhouse for the children of alumni as well as more class reunions. The final production of Oklahoma! was held that night, and a coffeehouse in the SUB-7, allowing students to express themselves through music and poetry, ended Homecoming 2005.

TWIRP Week is a much anticipated event at Milligan College. The tradition goes back for years and there are even a few married couples today who credit TWIRP Week with bringing them together. The week is full of events sponsored by the different classes where the girls are expected to ask out a guy and, as the acronym suggests, pay for the date. TWIRP Week is seen by some girls as the chance to finally ask out the cute guy they have had their eye on, and by some boyfriends as a welcomed break from having to empty their wallets.

The events for TWIRP Week 2005, held September 19-23, were an ice-cream party outside of Hart Hall, a walk-in movie on Pardee Lawn, costume bowling at Holiday Lanes, western roller skating, and a Midnight Movie at Bonnie Kate.

FALL FORMAL

November 12th ~ Carnegie Hotel

The Fall Formal, sponsored and put on by the Social Affairs Committee, was held at the Carnegie Hotel from seven until midnight on Saturday, November 12th. In some ways, planning for the formal started long before in advance because that is how early the Social Affairs Committee had to reserve the date. Several weeks before the event they had to work out the details. They started advertising and then selling tickets. They decided on colors and bought decorations, and had to find a DJ. On the day of the formal the Social Affairs Committee went to the Carnegie Hotel to decorate. All of their hard work paid off as guests entered the room decorated in green, gold, and red. They were handed beads and enjoyed the night.

After losing 5 seniors, the 2005 men's soccer team faced a challenging year. Not only were some of their more experienced players gone, but drastic changes were made to the line up with the addition of Dave Dixon as the coach after having coached the women's soccer team the previous year.

The players began the season full of expectations, which for the most part they felt like they accomplished. One of those goals was to finish top 4 in the conference during the regular season. Not only did they achieve that, but managed to break into the national rankings. Junior Justin Fuller said, "The highlight of the season for me was the home game against King when they had just broken into the national top 25 ... I thought we definitely out-and been successful overall. The honors which some of them were awarded proves it. Fuller was named to the 3rd All-Conference team, as well as academic All-American along with juniors Caleb Bollman and Stuart Mackinson. Sophomore Kyle Wilcox was named to the 2nd All-Conference team, and junior David Lilly was named to the 1st team All-Conference and All-Region as well as named AAC Player of the Year.

"I fully expect the team to compete for a Conference and Regional Championship. It is also our goal to get into the National Top 25 for the first time in program history," Dixon said. Fuller also has high expectations for next season, especially with the return of several experienced players as well as talented new recruits.

The cross country and track teams have had successful seasons, even going beyond what they had expected. Coach Chris Layne led the Lady Buffs to Region and Conference Championship titles as well as a top ten finish at the National Cross Country meet.

Sophomore Lindsey Davis, one of the team captains, said, "We had an outstanding cross country season. We were the Regional champions again this year. We didn't get the respect we deserved at the beginning of the season, as we weren't even in the top 25 national ranking until October, when we jumped in at #22. The final ranking before Nationals listed us as #14. At the National meet, we surprised a lot of people when we capped off the season with a top ten national finish."

Senior Megan Lease boasted a successful end to her cross country career as the Region 12 champ and earning another All-American title for her top 30 finish at Nationals. Since then, she has also earned a trip to the National track meet in the marathon, along with fellow senior Brandon Talbert.

The men's team also had some success this season, but lacked depth. However, they still finished second for both Region and Conference. Senior Chris Wright finished his Milligan cross country career with a 52nd place finish at Nationals. Senior Brandon Talbert and Junior Jair Collie also had solid performances at Nationals, both posting personal bests.

The team carried the same momentum and enthusiasm from cross country into the track season. Improvements have been made all around, and several people have qualified for Nationals in both indoor and outdoor track.

This has been a big year for the track program as it was the first year for the AAC Conference track meet. Milligan's track program has also been expanded and the team welcomed Coach Roshan Griffin as the new assistant coach.

The team has high hopes for next season as most of the team will be returning and they will be able to build on their current success. Lindsey Davis said, "We are still a very young team, but next year we will be going into Nationals with a little more experience behind us."

Wallingford: Expectations were high for this team; although we anticipated a slow start due to a roster that featured 10 new players.

Buffalo: What has been unique about this season as opposed to past seasons?

Wallingford: This was a unique season with my medical leave occurring in the first week of January. It was very difficult transition for our players and our assistant coaches. Again, we had 10 new players learning a new system and two new assistant coaches, also learning a new system. We were 9-7 at the beginning of January; however, a couple of tough losses seem to put us in a tail spin and we suffered a loss of confidence. Our coaches, Donald Ensor and Richard Thomas, did a great job and our players competed every night and never lost their desire to win.

Buffalo: Have any of your players received either team or individual recognition for their efforts? If so, what awards?

Wallingford: Jeff Barnes and Tino Washington received All-AAC All-Frosh recognition

Buffalo: Who are some of your standout players?

Wallingford: Standout players were Zach Dezarn, Jeff Barnes, and Adrian Harrison. All three were double figure scorers and had some outstanding performances. All three will return next season.

Buffalo: How do you expect the teams to improve for next year?

Wallingford: We will have 10 returning players next season and our expectations will be high. We look forward to the challenge of returning our program back to the top of the AAC.

RES. LIFE WEEK

Creating Community An

A new change this year was the Res. Life Week that occurred in late October. Each dorm had an assigned day of the week in which it hosted events for the students. The girls dorm, Hart, started the week off with a Hawaiian Luau. The boys in Webb opened up Club Webb on Tuesday night, complete with music, video games, and sodas. The students in Kegley, Quillen and Williams entertained students with cards and board games on Wednesday night. Sutton hosted a talent show called Sutton Star Search on Thursday night. The last night of the week, Friday, entertained the students with a cookout, ultimate frisbee, a concert by the band 40 Day Strong, and a pool party later that evening.

Kim Parker, the director of Student Life, came up with the idea and helped integrate it with the help of all of the Resident Assistants. "Res. Life Week is a time to celebrate and highlight the role of residence life in the Milligan experience. It is a time to celebrate life together and the unique experience of living in community. It is an event that is meant to build community amongst the residents at Milligan. It is an opportunity for students to get to know more of the residents in their own hall as they interact and enjoy the events in different halls each night."

Overall, the social week was a success, and hopefully will become an annual tradition.

"Oh what a Beautiful Morning..." OKLAHOMA!

This year, the Theatre Program at Milligan College returned its production to Milligan's campus with the musical Oklahoma. The play was directed by Richard Major and starred Milligan's Robert Kitchens as Curley, Leslie Johnson as Laurey, along with Emmanuel student David Clinkscales as "Poor Ole Judd" who find themselves in a classic love triangle during the turn of the twentieth century. Supporting the first love triangle are Ally Horner—the "girl that can't say no" to boys—as Ado Annie; cowboy Will Parker, played by freshman Scott Glisson; and peddler Ali Hakim, played by Paul Blowers of Emmanuel. Several Milligan faculty also joined the stage, including Rosemarie Shields who becomes everyone's favorite "Aunt Eller." Regarding the production, Richard Major had high expectations: "We have an excellent acting company, a terrific orchestra, a highly motivated production staff and an extremely talented artistic staff. Combine all of these ingredients, and we have an absolute recipe for success, a production that will certainly be remembered for a long time to come."

This isn't your momma's choir. With their high energy songs, cram-packed schedule, and rigorous rehearsals--not to mention really good friends--the Milligan College Concert Choir will knock your socks off. The 2005-2006 Choir consists of thirty-three extremely talented individuals who blend and harmonize the various styles of music they sing. With a repertoire of songs that include spirituals, praise, hymns, Broadway, and ethnic pieces, the Choir is known for having a song for everyone. Throughtout this year, the Concert Choir performs at area churches as well as their own private concert at Milligan showcasing their songs entitled "On Broadway," a spring break tour in the Midwest packed with fourteen concerts in nine days (all churches but one), and a Milligan Convocation in which to showcase their talent to the entire student body. The Concert Choir also performs Fauvé Requiem with the Johnson City Symphony.

African

Children's

Choir

The internationally recognized African Children's Choir performed in Seeger Chapel on November the 4. The Milligan College Arts Council sponsored the event. Choir 27, the actual choir that visited Milligan is composed of African children ages seven to eleven from Uganda and Kenya. All children in the choir have lost either one or both of their parents to disease or poverty.

The children tour the world performing at numerous kinds of events. In the months following their performance at Milligan they performed a "Hope and Healing Concert" in Gulfport, Mississippi to honor the community struck by Hurricane Katrina. They performed at a pre Oscar party and got much support from George Clooney who took pictures with the group and urged fellow actors to help end disease and poverty. They also traveled to Nashville to record a song with Jars of Clay for their upcoming album.

The proceeds raised from the tours go to the some 6700 African children that Music for Life support, and to continue to assist those children who have graduated from the Choir's program. After their show they sold souvenirs to raise additional support, because admission to the concert was free. Even at the end of the school year students could still be seen wearing African Children's Choir t-shirts and rubber bracelets.

Service Seekers meets each Wednesday night and travels to Appalachian Christian Village, a local retirement community. There, they visit with the residents and lead a short service. Usually, a student from Milligan gives a short devotional and the group worships together using traditional hymns. Many of the residents have a Milligan connection of some sort, maybe even as former employees or alumni.

Rotaract is a service club dedicated to community and God. They have volunteered at the Melting Pot, Ronald McDonald House, and the Boys and Girls Club of Elizabethton. Also, they work hard to keep Milligan Highway litter-free.

Don't just act, Rotaract!

PSI CHI

Psi Chi is a chapter of the National Honor Society in Psychology. Members rank in the upper 35th percentile of their class and are all psychology majors or minors. They advance the field of psychology by participating in relevant service projects and sponsoring educational and social opportunities for all psychology majors at Milligan.

THE INSTITUTE FOR SERVANT LEADERSHIP

Mold Me Make Me

Our Mission: As a Christian liberal arts college, Milligan College seeks to honor God by preparing men and women to be servant leaders.

The purpose of the Servant Leader Experience at Milligan College is to nurture the hearts and minds of a new generation of servant leaders for the church and society. Our program of theological exploration of vocation is designed to help students discover the call to servant leadership set forth in the New Testament and to help them discern their own individual vocations through faith, service and leadership.

Our vision for the Servant Leader Experience continues to unfold in the program's third year.

The program magnifies all elements that support our mission. Through community service with actual hands-on experience, stronger worship and discernment elements and ongoing activities both in and out of the classroom, the Servant Leader Experience is helping to meet the deep needs of our students to enrich their growing personal relationship with God in a Christian community.

HOW HAS YOUR LIFE BEEN TURNED UPSIDE DOWN?

"But God has combined the members of the body and has given greater honor to the parts that lacked it, so that there should be no division in the body, but that its parts should have equal concern for each other."

1 Corinthians 12:24b-25

AFRICA WAS A HUGE CULTURE SHOCK FOR ME; SEEING IT ON TELEVISION DOESN'T DO IT JUSTICE. SEEING AND EXPERIENCING A DIFFERENT WORLD IS ALWAYS A LIFE CHANGING EXPERIENCE. GETTING TO KNOW THE MISSIONARIES AND THEIR CHILDREN WAS AN AMAZING EYE-OPENING EXPERIENCE AND I NOW REALIZE WHAT THEY GIVE UP TO FURTHER GOD'S KINGDOM. WORKING WITH THOSE CHILDREN IN AFRICA JUST CONFIRMED WHAT GOD HAS IN STORE FOR ME AND HOW MY GIFT WILL BE USED IN HIS MINISTRY.

THIS MEANS HAVING STRONG THEOLOGICAL CONVICTIONS ABOUT WHAT YOU BELIEVE, BUT NOT ALLOWING IT TO CAUSE DISSENSION AMONG THE BODY OF CHRIST (THANKS MR. HELSABECK!). "TAKING THE MEDICAL COLLEGE ADMISSION TEST (MCAT) WAS A TURNING POINT THIS YEAR IN MY LIFE, BECAUSE THE MCAT SCORE IS HIGHLY REGARDED AS THE "KEY" TO MEDICAL SCHOOL ACCEPTANCE. THEREFORE, FUTURE IN THE MEDICAL FIELD AS A DOCTOR IS BASED ON THIS ONE TEST WHICH PLACES A PLETHORA OF STRESS AND TENSION ON A STUDENT STUDYING TO TAKE THE MCAT. HOWEVER, WITH THE HELP OF MY SCIENCE PROFESSORS HERE AT MILIGAN I WAS ABLE TO APPROPRIATELY PREPARE FOR THE TEST AND TAKE THE MCAT WITH CONFIDENCE."

"IT'S WEIRD TO THINK HOW MUCH CHANGES WITHIN A YEAR. I HAD ALL THESE IDEAS OF WHERE I WANTED MY LIFE TO GO AND NOW PRACTICALLY NONE OF THEM ARE THE SAME. THIS PAST YEAR TAUGHT ME TO BE MORE OPEN TO UNEXPECTED DOORS OPENING AND TO TAKE THEM. THE GREATEST THING THIS YEAR WAS TAKING PHOTOGRAPHY, AND THROUGH THE ENCOURAGEMENT OF MRS. ANTHONY AND THE DARKROOM CLAN I AM NOW A PHOTO MINOR. YOU NEVER REALLY KNOW WHERE LIFE IS GOING TO TAKE YOU, YOU JUST HAVE TO ENJOY THE RIDE AS YOU GO ALONG SOMETIMES."

"THE GLOBAL NIGHT COMMUTE WAS SUCH AN AMAZING EXPERIENCE, BECAUSE I ALONG WITH THOUSANDS OF OTHER PEOPLE AROUND THE WORLD, WAS ABLE TO TAKE A STAND AGAINST THE INJUSTICE THAT IS OCCURRING IN NORTHERN UGANDA. A VERY ECCLESIASTIC GROUP WENT FROM MILLIGAN AND IT ALSO WAS NICE GETTING TO KNOW OTHERS ON CAMPUS THAT ARE CONCERNED ABOUT SOCIAL JUSTICE. MY WHOLE PERSPECTIVE OF THE WORLD AND MY PURPOSE IN IT RADICALLY CHANGED THIS SEMESTER. I HAVE ALWAYS BEEN PASSIONATE ABOUT MISISSIONS, BUT NOW ALL OF MY SENSES ARE FOCUSED TO SOCIAL JUSTICE AROUND THE WORLD BECAUSE OF THE FAITH AND INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT CONFERENCE AT CALVIN COLLEGE, MY CLASSES, AND THE POVERTY SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS AT HOPWOOD. I AM SO GRATEFUL TO GOD THAT HE HAS TURNED MY EYES TO THIS ISSUE!"

THIS YEAR WAS CERTAINLY DIFFERENT FROM MY FRESHMAN YEAR. THE CLASSES WERE TOUGHER, AND I TOOK ON MANY TASKS THAT ALMOST LEFT ME WITHOUT ANY TIME FOR MYSELF. ONE OF MY LIFE MOTTO'S IS 'STRIVE FOR EXCELLENCE,' BUT I QUICKLY FOUND OUT THAT I ALSO NEEDED TO LEARN TO SAY NO TO OPPORTUNITIES THAT SOUND REALLY GOOD. I LEARNED THAT I CAN'T HANDLE EVERYTHING I WOULD LIKE TO, BUT INSTEAD I HAVE TO FIND A BALANCE THAT DOESN'T EXHIBIT A LOT OF FRUSTRATION.

Milligan College takes a day off to remember a great man, Martin Luther King Jr. and his belief in service and peace. Following Milligan's statement of creating servant leaders, students are encouraged to participate in various events throughout the day. It is a day for students to get involved in the community and share Christ's love with those around us. Students on campus joined together in a time of fellowship and service.

We all get wrapped in the business of living our lives -- career, family, work, making money, etc. Occasionally, something occurs that stops us in our tracks, gives us pause and makes us stop and think about what is really important. That occasion is almost always due to tragedy.

The day of January 18th is indelibly burned into the memory of all who work attend Milligan College.

For on this day a young man with his whole life ahead of him, inexplicably collapsed and died.

Steven Hunter, from Portsmouth, Ohio, a 21-year-old junior history major with a minor in legal studies, collapsed during tennis practice where he was a member of the team, and was later pronounced dead at Sycamore Shoals Hospital in Elizabethton.

All athletic events were cancelled for the next day as a memorial service for Hunter was held in the school chapel. Last August, Hunter transferred from Shawnee State University in his hometown of Portsmouth.

Hunter had been a very good high school tennis player. He was the No. 3 singles and No. 2 doubles player for the Buffs.

"We were looking forward to spring," Coach Rich Aubrey said. "The tennis team had great chemistry. Steven was part of that. He was a special person and a great teammate."

The memorial service held at the school chapel was videotaped. The tape will be given to Hunter's parents, Mark and Virgie, also of Portsmouth, Ohio. The service was well attended, according to coach Aubrey.

"I knew Steven as a player," Aubrey said. "I met Steven's friends at the service and afterwards they would say how special and heartwarming he was."

Milligan and Hunter were a perfect match, according to Aubrey.

"Steven always said he loved Milligan and Milligan loved him too, that's for sure," Aubrey said.

Once again, a young man is struck down in the prime of his life. It will never be known what he may have become or contributed to society, and that alone is tragic.

While the Hunter family and Milligan campus grieve, they can rejoice in knowing that while he was here, if only briefly, Steven Hunter made a lasting impression on his friends and family.

MEASURE 4 MEASURE

This year Milligan hosted a student led Shakespearean play as a separate project from the theater department's annual spring production. Directed by junior Robert Kitchens, Measure 4 Measure is a rendition of the Shakespearean play set in modern styles. Both students and faculty were greatly involved in this production, as actors and crew members. Two shows were performed on Saturday, April 8th in Lower Seeger Chapel.

MILLIGAN COLLEGE ART STUDENTS DISPLAYED THEIR WORK AT THE NELSON GALLERY.

Milligan art and photography students are encouraged to display their work for the public as often as possible. Art from the Buffalo School is an annual exhibit of Milligan student artwork at the Nelson Art Gallery in Johnson City, and the Juried Art Show is judged by professional artists and art critics and displayed in our own gallery. Students also held an exhibit of Bays Mountain in Kingsport and entered the Photographer's Forum contest (some students were named finalists). Each student with a photography or art major or minor is required to put on their own individual show their senior year. This year's student shows included Chad Parker, Bre Shelton, Victoria Bailey, Hannah Bader, Kaci Campbell, Danielle Dotson, and Sarah Daasch.

Dr. David R. Roberts Retires

Early in December of 2005, Dr. R. David Roberts announced that he would retire at the end of the Spring Semester 2006, instead of 2007. This revelation hit the campus of Milligan pretty hard as the realization that they would lose their beloved Bible professor was soon realized. Dr. Roberts hopes to stay in the area and rest up before involving himself more with his family and in church activities.

Convocation Center Update

As of May 2006, this is the progress of the Convocation Center, literally turning the campus upside-down. Will it ever look like the drawing above? Only time will tell.

Interview with Hannah Beth Potter

Buffalo: What were your expectations for each team going into the season?

Potter: Some of our expectations were to push really hard this year to make it a great last year for Coach Glover

Buffalo: Do you think those goals were met?

Potter: I do think these goals were accomplished, some of players really stepped it up to play in the spots they did and our team placed 3rd in Conference.

Buffalo: What were some of the highlites of the seasons?

players?

Potter: Some of our standout players are: Cassie Lomison, Senior, who earned a ranking of 28th in the nation's ranking for NAIA schools. She has defeated the best in our conference this year, including the girl from SCAD who was seeded 15th among Division II schools. Krissi Denton was also one of our standout players this year. Krissi made a huge move from the #5 spot from last year to the #2 spot this year. She has had to fight off some really good girls but she has stepped it up and played her best.

Potter: Some highlights of the season were playing Savannah College of Art and Design over spring break, at which the matches began at 11 pm because of a tournament that was on the courts before us. SCAD is ranked 11th in the nation

Buffalo: Who are some of your standout

The Lady Buffs won the 2005 Appalachian Athletic Conference tournament with standings at 6-2 and .750 in the AAC Conference and 7-7 and .500 overall. Senior Cassie Lomison was named to the All-AAC team for the fourth straight season as well as the 2006 AAC Sportswoman of the Year, the third time she's been on the AAC All-Sportsmanship team. Also, Lomison, Krissi Denton and Beth Toner were named to the AAC All-Academic team.

Interview with Coach Tony Wallingford

Buffalo: What were your expectations for each team going into the season?

Wallingford: Expectations were high for this team, returning all five letterman. They played outstanding golf both in the fall and in the spring. The men's golf team defeated two teams in the NAIA top 25.

They won their second AAC Championship in the past three years. Four of the top five golfers will return next year.

Buffalo: What has been unique about this season as opposed to past seasons?

Wallingford: In the regional tourney, the Buffs lost the regional title and the opportunity to go to the national tournament by one stroke to Brescia University (KY).

Buffalo: Have any of your players received either team or individual recognition for their efforts? If so, what awards?

Wallingford: All conference players were Aaron Jessee and Grayson Patton. Aaron Jessee also made the all-region team. Tony Wallingford was AAC Coach of the Year.

Buffalo: How do you expect the teams to improve for next year?

Wallingford: We expect this team to challenge again next year for the AAC and Region XII title with four of the top five players returning.

Smith, Dick, Stewart, sophomore Holly Napier (9) and senior Courtney Ruth (22) also were named to the AAC All-Academic team.

Milligan finished the season tied for fourth place in the AAC. PROOF

This year's spring production was Proof by David Auburn, which won the Pulitzer Prize in 2001. The play is about a deceased math genius and his two daughters who along with one of their father's students attempt to discover the truth about the professor's secret genius. A written proof of great worth is found but is it really the late professor's? Milligan College Theatre Productions presented Proof during March 12-18 at 8pm. The play was held in the McMahan Student Center and directed by Richard Major. Proof starred Gigi Urgo as the ingenious daughter and caretaker of the father. Derek Davidson played the role of the deceased father who left a legacy of math work. Tyler Simmons supported as the curious student interested in the father's work. Lindsey Everell Vogt rounded out the cast as the distant, yet protective daughter and sister who comes in for the funeral.

STEFFANI TAYLOR WAVES GLADLY DURING THE CELEBRATION AFTER.

TROY, from the moment you entered our lives, you filled our hearts with joy. As you grew up, we kept thinking, "it doesn't get any better than this" but it did! Through all the ages and stages, from a little red-haired imp with such a gentle loving sprit, to the teenager standing on the brink of manhood, developing character and principles that were so far beyond your years, sometimes even causing your family to examine our own intolerances. The man you have become- rich in integrity, wisdom, compassion, and honesty, matched only by your awesome and innate sense of humor- is truly a gift to us from God. If we, your family, were instrumental in the planting and nurturing of your faith and commitment to God, then we pray that He will accept that as our gift back to Him. We love you and we couldn't be prouder!

Jeremiah 29:11and 12

"For I know the plans I have for you," declares the Lord, "plans to prosper you and not to harm you, plans to give you a hope and a future."

Beck:

We are so proud of you and all your accomplishments! 4 years have flown by. It seems only yesterday you were applying to Milligan and here you are graduating already!

You have always done everything you do with your whole heart. Whether participating in church dramas, singing, playing softball or going on farm calls. You truly are the sunshine of our lives and we are so blessed to have you as our daughter! You have grown from that little tomboy who hated putting on frilly dresses and having your hair fixed into a beautiful, sensitive, loving young woman that we are so proud of!

Our prayer for you is that you will never forget God and always put Him first in your life. Congratulations and may God bless and keep you in whatever path He leads you next!

We Love You!
Mommy, Daddy, Jason
and the Whole Gilley and Holcomb clan

All rise
All fall
It's for you all
We built these cities to stand so tall
We've lost
Our wall

I don't want to lose you coming down with the whole world upside down
I don't have a soul to trust in now
with the whole world upside down

We are one tonight and we're singing it out
We are one tonight and we're dreaming out loud
Though the world is flawed these scars will heal
We are one tonight

Two eyes
One tongue
I've come undone
I'm no victim
I've paid these dues
I came to lose

I don't want to fight about it now
with the whole world upside down
I don't have a soul to trust in now
with the whole world upside down

I don't want to lose the common ground
with the whole world upside down
I don't want to fight about it now in a world that's burning out

Let's slow the evening down, slow it down, slow down
Please slow down, down, down

The stars are coming out!

Switchfoot - "We Are One Tonight"

Wow, we're finally at the end of the yearbook, and likewise the end of the year. And, as you have experienced a lack of equilibrium throughout this annual having to flip the book all around, the events and experiences and memories and changes this past year evidenced a similar feeling in the lives of the Milligan community as well. Thank you all for a great year, despite the heartache, the turmoil, the pain; even through the growth, the development, the character;
and delighting in the surprises, the joys, and the grace that life has to offer each one of us.
Remember, we have grown as a community because of it all.
