Milligan played host to an unusual visitor on Wednesday and Thursday of this week—J. Warren Hastings, former minister in Savannah, Georgia. While here Reverend Hastings addressed a joint prayer meeting on Wednesday and chapel on Thursday morning.

Mr. Hastings was unusual in his ability to address students and is unusual in the record he has made as a minister of the Christian Church.

For three years he has been preaching at the first Christian Church in Savannah—a church that was developed in no small measure by Reverend Hastings's efforts. His scholastic training was begun at Lynchburg, Virginia, furthered at Yale, and finished in Scotland.

Hastings first heard of Milligan College from Dean Eyster, who first heard of Hastings from a brother of his. At present he is on his way to Seattle, Washington where he will assume duties as a pastor in a Christian Church in that city.

Milligan To Have Phi Kappa Delta Chapter

Through recent correspondence with Mr. Finley, National secretary of Phi Kappa Delta honor society it has been learned that Milligan's application for a local chapter of Phi Kappa Delta has been put in by the committee for new college chapters.

The faculty members of the forensic council met and selected the following boys and girls to attend the convention at Lexington in April: boys, Phil Shelley, extemporaneous speaker, and Marvin Lowe, orator; girls, Harriet Wells as extemporaneous speaker and Ruth Walker, for orator. Selections made by members of the boys' forensic council which were published in the last issue of the Stampede are to be disregarded since they have been superseded by these.

The season will be opened by the male faction of the Milligan debate corps on Monday evening March 1, when the boys meet King College here. The girls run a close second to the opening date with a debate on the following night. It will be a triangle debate with Maryville and Tusculum, Maryville and Tusculum meeting here. Maryville is considered one of the best teams that Milligan will meet during the entire season.

Students Hear Talk Given By R. E. Roth

Dr. Robert E. Roth, travelogist and picture-lecturer of East Greenville, Pennsylvania presented a travelogue both by picture and story of the wonderlands of South America, including the countries and cities of Ecuador, Peru, Chile, Buenos Aires, and Rio de Janeiro, to the students of the college Monday evening February 12 in the college auditorium. He took them with him on a trip over the Andes, through the Jungles of Brazil, and along the Amazon river.

Roth's program was made up of dissolving pictures and explanation in story form, showing approximately seventy-five pictures in natural color. These were selected from among a thousand or more original pictures taken by Dr. Roth himself with the exception of perhaps seven or eight in which he appears in the native dress of the country.

Upon being questioned about his liking for this work and his reasons for entering this field of picture exploration in foreign countries, Dr. Roth stated that his work was his hobby and that he first became interested in taking pictures in California. About ten years ago he made a trip to that state where he took some pictures and began his lecture work on California with twenty of the most outstanding of these pictures of the "sunshine state."

Dr. Roth has also spent some time in Alaska—about six months. The time spent by him in the tropical climate of South America inclusive of two round trips from this continent reaches about one year and three months. These trips, Dr. Roth says, were made solely for the joy of the trips and for the picture taking preparatory to his lecture work, in which he expects to remain for some time yet. He made the last of the two trips in 1932.

After being questioned as to the va-

MILLIGAN TO HAVE NEW POST OFFICE

Whether it has been the influence of faint zephyrs of spring, the beginning of the end of the depression, or some other cause, the fact remains that construction work at Milligan College has assumed tremendous proportions.

Two new projects are in the process to be—a building that will house the new Post Office and improvements on the main road into the college. The road project is under the supervision of the C. W. A. and workers so far have maintained steady production of at least one wheel-barrow of dirt per hour and have dug several small ditches, one day per ditch. The energy of the workers may possibly rise enough to resurface the old road with asphalt.

The most spectacular of the two new construction units is the new post office building which will be located just above the boys dormitory next to Shepherd's residence. According to the old Piedmonter, James Shepherd who attended school the first semester here, a complete line of groceries, candies, and sandwiches will be on hand to help appease the ravishing between meal appetites of the stu-

DRAMATIC CLUB HOLDS MEETING MONDAY NIGHT

The next meeting of the dramatic club, according to Miss Dimple Hart will be held on Monday evening February 19th with a double-feature presentation as the program.

The two plays which will be given at that time are "Roots" directed by Mervin McCloskey, and "When Women Are Jurymen" under the direction of Yetiva Varner.

The cast for these two plays will be made up by some of the members of the regular make-up class which meets each Monday early in the evening. Instead of the usual process of discussion having to do with acting ability shown (or not shown) by individual characters in try-out plays the club will try another subject for discussion and criticism—this time the make-up of the characters.

Tartuffe, a recent production, is now ready for the road. The troupe leaves for Kingsport on February 26 and Erwin February 27th. Miss Hart is hopeful of better acting and an all-around better production than the one given at Milligan on December 8, 1933. However, not displeased with the presentation of this play at that time, the cast has done quite a bit of work on it for its second and third presentations.

At Kingsport the cast will be entertained, immediately following the performance, by Mrs. W. P. Walker, former student and staunch friend of the school. After the performance in Erwin the cast will dine at the tea room as has been previously arranged.

The exact date of the opening of the new edifice is not known, but as soon as the building is finished and equipment moved, students will inquire about mail from a new post master.

Teachers Put Forth Early
Threat By Leading 11—3
At One Time.

BUFFS BEHIND 16-15
AT CLOSE OF HALF

Bailey Starred For Visitors;
Payne Lead Buffs To Victory.

In a game that was hard fought yet sporting, clean yet intense, the Milligan College basketball five outscored their friendly rivals, Teachers College, and won from them 29-25 in the Milligan gym last night.

Teachers College put their scare apparatus into full operation early in the game and had Milligan fans wondering exactly how the game would end when the little blackboard read, "Teachers 11, Milligan 3" at one time. The Milligan five recovered at this point, however, and closed the gap with a barrage of field goals and foul shots.

Bailey Starred for Teachers

Bailey undoubtedly was the big gun for Teachers. He made a total of twelve points to lead his team in individual scoring and played a bang-up defensive game. On the other hand, Milligan's center, Chester Payne, somehow managed to keep his equilibrium sufficiently to hobble up and down the court to make an occasion point, fourteen in all. The remainder of the Milligan team all played well, Culvahouse and Grant shining in a bright and gleaming manner on defense.

Although Payne was handicapped by a wrenched knee and severe lacerations on his leg, he was able to outjump Bailey almost at will throughout the game.

Eyster's Comment

"Doc" Eyster, in commenting on the game, said, "The main thing to me is that each player gave his best and gave it well. If Milligan should lose the remaining games, which I seriously doubt, these boys have done a mighty job in a fine fashion in winning this game."

The major portion of the Milligan rooters as usual stood to enjoy their ball game, but at the end of the contest the majority had enough vim, vitality, and rah rah hotchaim left to severely disturb the murky tranquility of the atmosphere. Undoubtedly the game will rank as the outstanding battle of the Smoky Mountain Conference for this year.

Other points included R. Shelley with 3; Grant, 3; Ayers, 1; and Culvahouse, 4. The score at the half stood 18-17 in Teachers' favor.

This publication endeavors to foster the ideals for which the student body is ever striving; namely, higher scholarship, cleaner sportsmanship, and finer comradeship. It endeavors to represent the school in all its aspects and to print, in an accurate and engaging way, everything of news interest concerning it.

A New Conception

We are pleased with the announcement by the administration that church attendance is now a matter of individual responsibility and initiative. This seems to us to be a much better conception of church attendance than the previous one held by Milligan authorities.

After all, students who attend Milligan enter with a promise to obey this phase of the school requirements completely. With this promise in mind, and the new ruling, each student should attend church from now on without further fuss being made over the matter.

The Episode of the Rocks

While Clifford Purcell, one of the students of this school, was calmly sitting in his room discussing with three friends famous motion pictures of the past, he was struck on the chin by a rock of no small size. Upon the arrival of a second missile that broke a window pane, his companions gently loped into a corner and so remained till they were assured that no more rocks were on the way into the room.

Although a search was made as soon as the other boys had summoned enough courage to crawl out of the room, no trace of any assailant was found.

We cannot comprehend any possible motive for throwing rocks through a dormitory window in the way in which this unfortunate incident occurred. Since the occupants of the room were not visible to anyone outside, it seems improbable that personal motives entered into the throwing.

Certain evidence points to the fact that whoever threw the rocks might have been college students. We hate to even mention the possibilities of such a thing, but we feel safe in saying that if college boys were ever discovered at such an outrage they would long remember the occasion by bruises and sore places on various spots of their anatomy.

At any rate, the whole incident was very unfortunate. As it happens Purcell was far from seriously hurt, yet the possibilities of serious injury to the other boys in the room and Purcell are too great to contemplate with any great amount of serenity.

We trust that no other individuals will feel the creative urge to toss rocks—at least through dormitory windows. If they do, perhaps the Milligan vigilants will be quick enough to apprehend the assailants.

Milligan Individuality

An opinion of undoubted veracity has been expressed regarding the individuality of the Milligan student body. Not individuality as to certain students but as a body. This now prevalent characteristic of the student body calls for much cooperation and good will. These two things do exist among the students and for that reason it may be said of Milligan Students that they are "different."

This idea of "follow the leader," has long been prominent among the boys, but not until recently has it been such a noticeable element in the life of the dormitory girls. Boys have now noticed that few of the girls retain their long waving tresses. All the girls have gone wild over short hair cuts. You can't call them "silly little things," because really they are being very, very sensible—and perhaps economical.

But the hair cuts are only an example of how Milligan students show a sense of cooperation through being truly Milligan individualistic. What about our "Milligan ways"? We like 'em.

WINCHELL MANNER

Forthwith and with no greater ado, we present to the gossip-readers of the school our estimation of Milligan ga-gaism in tabular form, patterned after the stock market. After weeks of painstaking research by competent investigators, this information has finally been assembled. Changes will be listed every two weeks.

In case some fond couple has not been listed, it has merely been an oversight. To safeguard your position, address a letter to this paper stating the condition of your affairs. All information is strictly confidential—except to our readers. (Both of 'em).

Recent visitors to our campus were questioning and admiring certain things about our campus. One was complimenting our student representatives from foreign countries.

"What do you mean by foreign country representatives?" questioned a student.

"Well, I saw a Russian Prince just now," answered the visitor.

Speaking of advantages of small schools and individual attention, we wish to present our greatest hero—Mrs. William H. Kathleen Adams Bowman. She recently presented the class with apples so that they might chew and concentrate at the same time. We thank you.

Milligan has been in the hands of redecorators lately. (Not the interior decorating kind), who have been painting up the old dining room. Spring is in the air. By the way, won't it be nice for these all-conference teams to again meander on the triangle at dusk or better yet—

TIME

Time is too slow for those who wait
 Too swift for those who fear
 Too long for those who grieve
 Too short for those who rejoice
 But for those who love—

TIME IS ETERNITY.

Picking Out a College

Yes, they want to go to College
 But they want to go away—
 To some other seat of knowledge
 Is all they talk about all day;
 For the youngster in New Haven
 Doesn't think so much of Yale,
 And the female of the species is as
 Restless as the male.
 There's a school around the corner,
 There's a college down the state.
 But a thousand miles beyond them
 There's another that is great.
 So their father's rather anxious
 And their mother rather sad.
 And they can't just understand it,
 What is wrong with her and Dad.

Well, I want to tell you, sonny, what's
 The matter all the while;
 Oh, it isn't just the money, though
 The money means a pile.
 But a summer and a winter, and
 Another year or two,
 And the world will come to take
 Me, as the world will always do.
 Yes, I want to tell you, daughter,
 Why your father wants you near,
 What it is that worries mother
 When your college days are here.
 She can see your paths before you,
 And she knows the way they lead,
 And she hates to see you leaving any
 Sooner than you need.

Just a little more persuasion and
 Perhaps they'll let you go.
 It will be a great occasion, so you
 Think—but I don't know.
 You will have your little troubles,
 You will have your larger cares,
 And the arms you long to come to
 With your worries won't be there.
 There'll be times you'd give the college
 For a touch of father's hand;
 There'll be little sorrows, daughter, only
 Mothers understand.

You are picking out a college, and
 Afar you want to roam—
 But the evenings and the Sundays
 You will wish that you were home.

BUFFALETTES MEET L. M. U. TOMORROW

Season To End With Maryville Contest There

But five games remain before finis is written on the 1934 basketball season. Previously King was to be played tomorrow night, but at the last minute the schedule was revised and King was moved up to its previous date, February 24th.

On Monday the Buffaloes will motor down to Jefferson City where the puffing Frosty and his band of Eagles will flop and squawk in basketball battle with the Milligan forces. Carson-Newman has not had the team this year that pranced for the school during last year, but Carson-Newman on Carson-Newman's floor is no body's set-up. Milligan fans have gotten one glimpse of the Eagle machine this year, and if both forces operate as they did in that game, the results will swing in Milligan's favor.

Maryville comes next on the schedule and may prove more difficult than is expected. One more game with Teachers College, the concluding affair at Maryville, and "Doc" Eyer will be left to solilliquize on the season that will end in 1935.

One thing remains certain. If Milligan can conquer Carson-Newman Monday, the championship should be virtually clinched—that is, if King and Maryville bow as expected. At any rate Milligan can afford to lose to Teachers if the other four teams are defeated. (Nice emphasis on if).

BUFFS REMAIN ON TOP NOTCH

With the Smoky Mountain championship race rapidly nearing the final stretch, Coach Eyer's Buffaloes continue to hold the top rung of the ladder with seven victories and no defeats. Teachers College, defeated by Milligan last night, still maintains a firm grip on the runner-up position, having won eight contests while losing but two. Maryville's Highlanders are situated in third position with five victories and two defeats.

Milligan plays Carson-Newman on the latter's floor Monday evening, and entertains the King College tornado the following Saturday.

Roberts Too Great; Emory Wins Again

With the inimitable Glen "Houdini" Roberts in fine fettle, Emory and Henry's Wasps unleashed a devastating attack here last Friday night and all but swept the Buffaloes off the floor with their whirlwind tactics. Roberts, pivoting, feinting, and tossing 'em in from mid-air, accounted for twenty-one of his team's thirty-seven points and outscored the entire Milligan outfit by a margin of eight markers.

The Wasps gained the lead at the outset when Roberts dropped in two foul shots, and after that it was just a question of how large the score would be. Half time Emory was out in front, 17-4.

Milligan's defense worked up to par in the face of the Virginians' fast passing attack inside the foul line, but the Buffs never seemed able to get their scoring machinery in motion. In fact, close guarding by an alert Emory crew held Eyer's horsemen to a single field goal during the entire first half.

All in all, the only encouraging feature of the contest was the size of the crowd in attendance. No official check-up was made concerning the exact number of fans on hand, but it is safe to say that it was the largest outpouring witnessed here this season. Practically every available seat was taken long before the opening gun was fired.

Roberts, of course, was the main attraction, but fans left here believing the Wasps could sweep over any college team of this section with the brilliant Pounder on the bench. In Countiss and Fielder, Jackson has about the snappiest pair of guards Milligan fans have seen this year.

PREVIOUS GAME WAS VICTORY FOR MILLIGAN

With the trophies of a Tennessee championship dangling tantalizingly before their eyes, Coach Hart's fast-stepping Buffalettes meet L. M. U. here tomorrow night, in a contest that promises some of the hottest basketball seen on the local floor in years.

The locals defeated the Harrogate lassies, 20-18, in a recent breath-taker at L. M. U., and moved into the lead in the race for state honors, snapping, at the same time Lincoln Memorial's forty-two game winning streak. The L. M. U. girls are coached by Ramsay, one of the outstanding court mentors of the South.

Coach Hart's stars enter the game fresh from a sensational 23-20 victory over Appalachian, only team to defeat them this year, and hope to continue the fact pace against L. M. U. The invaders, on the other hand, argue, logically enough, that they were wholly unprepared for the Milligan onslaught at Harrogate, whereas the Buffalettes were keyed to a fever pitch. This time, it is maintained by L. M. U. supporters, the situation will be reversed, and a decisive Harrogate will ensue.

To win, however, the visitors must stop Keefauver, Speck, and Huddleston, Milligan's mighty forwards, and elude Crabtree, Rice and Taylor, three of the best defensive performers ever seen in the Orange and Black. It was this combination of power and speed that proved L. M. U.'s undoing at Harrogate.

Buffs Divide In Games Against King and U. T.

Meeting Major Britton's Vols of the University of Tennessee for the fourth consecutive year, Milligan's basketball stalwarts came out on the small end of a 31-26 count in a game played at Knoxville, February 3, but retained enough momentum to crash through a rugged King College squad the following Wednesday, 39-29.

Against U. T. the Buffs played bravely in the face of almost prohibitive odds and, at several stages of the game, were apparently headed for victory, but inability to make baskets at critical moments cost Eyer's team the decision. The result of the game left the two teams deadlocked in the matter of victories, each having been victorious in two of the four games played since 1931.

The King game, played on the Tornado hardwood, will go down in the record books as one of the roughest affairs ever participated in by a Milligan College team. Gaining a 5-0 lead before Eyer's horsemen found the range, the Bristol lads fought furiously to hold their advantage in the face of the locals' superior attack and, as a result, committed numerous fouls. The Buffs led at the half by a meagre 16-15 count.

Returning for the second canto, Milligan gained command of the situation and gradually pulled away for a decisive win. Besides enabling the Buffaloes to retain the conference leadership, the contest saw Chet Payne, Eyer's lanky pivoter, add to his high-scoring record for the year to the extent of eighteen markers. Payne played the entire game

Tusculum Downed Seventeenth Time

Spurred onward by a Teachers College victory at Harrogate Monday night, the Buffaloes journeyed to Tusculum Tuesday evening and handed the Pioneers a 37-29 licking, thus making secure their conference leadership prior to the grand finale which took place last night.

Tusculum took the lead during the first half, perhaps because Eyer's lads were too mindful of the impending championship battle, and threatened at intervals to pile up a winning margin. As was the case in the game played here, however, the Greene Countians could not stand Milligan's second half attack.

For the locals Payne and P. Shelley were outstanding with thirteen and eleven points respectively.

The victory left Eyer's beleaguered forces at the top of the conference ladder with six victories and no defeats, and made last evening's battle all the more crucial. Teachers College, a persistent challenger all season, went into the game with a record of eight victories and only one defeat.

Incidentally, Milligan's win at Tusculum marked the seventeenth consecutive basketball victory for Eyer's teams over the Doakmen, and once again enabled the locals to avenge a football defeat with an impressive showing on the hardwood.

in Savannah, he has been besieged with offers to change churches that have ranged from a plea by Butler University to a mayor's delegation from an Oklahoma city.

Hastings developed one other special topic in his religious work—Wednesday night prayer meetings that were featured by talks on psychology. Mrs. Hastings has been of much assistance in all of his work as she is well qualified in that line by a course taken also at Yale Devinity School.

riety of his lectures he explained that the number of pictures used and the length of description and explanation depended largely upon the type of audience, as these programs are not confined to college audiences alone, but are often given before clubs and other groups as well. He further stated that an entire lecture could with ease be given upon one of the countries of South America.

Dr. Roth came to Milligan recommended for his fine and instructive entertainment, but unsponsored by the college. However about fifty per cent of the student body heard the lecture. Already he has visited nearby colleges, having been at Emory-Henry on Friday night February 9th, and expects to lecture at other colleges in this section. He went to Bristol from Milligan. His schedule includes from ten to fifteen lectures per week, making as many as three lectures a day. Dr. Roth was introduced here by Professor Burns.

SOCIETY NEWS
—OF—
MILLIGAN STUDENTS

By Ben Wah Kail

A large number of the students followed the team to Knoxville on the weekend of February 3 for the U. T.-Milligan game. The boys who went are too numerous to mention and girls so few that they would hardly merit honorable mention if it were not for the fact that the basketball girls (after their game with L. M. U.) drove to Knoxville on Saturday morning from L. M. U. to see the boys play. Quite unexpectedly the entire faculty, with perhaps one exception left the Milligan campus for those who wanted it and "took off" to Knoxville also.

Miss Elaine Turner was a guest of Miss Mary Elizabeth Foster of University of Tennessee February 3 and 4. (The event was the U. T.-Milligan game also).

The Misses Tommye Huddleston and Josephine Mitchell were recent visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Will H. Clark.

Miss Effie Nicholoff and Miss Louise Waller accompanied Miss Shirley Scott to her home in Jonesboro for a week-end visit.

The misses Dorothy and Lois Neiser were at home in Erwin during the weekend of February 10 and 11.

Miss Virginia Read again visited friends in Jonesboro.

Miss Lillie Smith was in Bristol, guest of her sister, last week-end.

Miss Vivian England visited Mrs. LeRoy Leonard in Johnson City Saturday night and Sunday February 10 and 11.

Miss Lucille Purser was a week-end visitor at Teachers' College, guest of Miss Dorothy Siles.
