Past - Present - Future

This year, the Buffalo Yearbook celebrates the past 127 years, the current 2006-2007 school year, and the hopeful many future years that are to come. Throughout this annual, you will find highlights from previous Milligan annuals, a record of the events of this past academic year, and a look at what is to come.

Please, enjoy this book.

A group of 33 students and faculty from Milligan toured Europe for a month during the summer on the annual humanities tour. The whirlwind sightseeing trip took the group to London, Paris, Amsterdam, Germany, Switzerland, Austria, Venice, Florence, Rom, Pompeii, Assissi, and Athens.

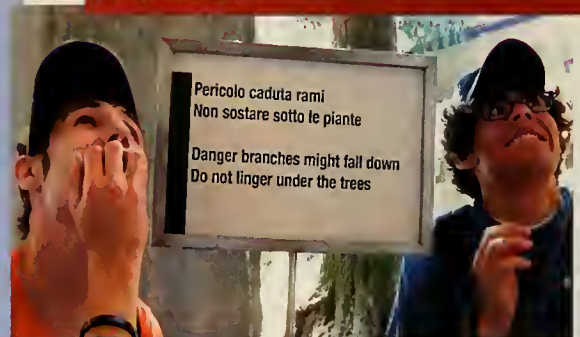

Some of the highlights of the trip included seeing Geoffery the butlet from the Fresh Prince of Bel-Air on the Globe Theater stage, being in Munich during all of the pre World Cup soccer excitement and being blessed by the Pope while in Rome.

The group was fortunate enough to see some of the most famous pieces of art from all over the world and experience firsthand the art and history taught in humanities. The tour definitely helps bring the classroom to life in an unforgettable way.

Habitat for Humanity

Valerie Palich snaps a chalk string on the roof of the house they are building so the shingles are straight.

Service is prized in the Milligan community, and one of the organizations that displays that spirit so well, is Habitat. One Saturday a month, dedicated students give up their day of sleeping in and help build houses for families who cannot afford regular market housing. This year, Christy Bothwell stepped up to take the job of communicating with the larger affiliation and organizing workdays. She found it challenging but enjoyed the work she was able to do. The club did lose their affiliation with the larger Habitat community this year because of a missed deadline; however, Bothwell is sure that they will continue to serve the community without being an official chapter here on campus. Also due to an uncertain beginning, participation in workdays declined this year. The few dedicated students need help! Don't let next year be a repeat story; in the future of Milligan College, actively insure that students are as devoted to service as in the past!

Bachelor Auction

The annual Bachelor Auction was held on Tuesday, September 12, in the cafeteria during lunch. The auction, sponsored by the SGA Junior Class, raised approximately four hundred dollars, which went to benefit the Junior/Senior Banquet.

The worst part of being auctioned off was that it is scary. When no one starts bidding right away, it is easy to get self-conscious. The best part was getting to show off a little bit.
-Christian Thompson

“We decided to dress up the way we did because hott always looks hotter in neon; and the ladies can't resist a fine man in a windsuit.
-Ben Foote

Our outfits appealed to the ladies because of the multicolored brightness of the windsuits and the lack of a shirt underneath mine... The best part of being auctioned off was having people laugh at us partying. The worst was when I ran out of appropriate dance moves.
-Robert Johnston

“It was fun to be up there and act stupid with charity as an excuse. However, I lacked the rugged looks of CT and the sexy Australian accent so in the end I only went for $5 to a friend. Just had to tell myself to walk it off, savor any small amount of dignity I could take off the stage with me.

A new student organization, Fan-atics, began this year, but students know this group better by a different name. The Bleacher Creatures are loyal fans who deck themselves out in black, white and Milligan orange facepaint and clothes and stand on the sidelines cheering for their favorite Milligan sports teams to win, win, win. This group of amateur cheerleaders was started by Marcus Haynes when he realized that Milligan did not have much school spirit during their sports games. At the beginning of the year Marcus posted flyers announcing the creation of the Bleacher Creatures and students quickly jumped on the band wagon. Milligan now has Fan-atic supporters.

Cross-Cultural Psychology Students Travel to Atlanta

Each year, Dr. Mills takes two trips to Atlanta, Georgia with students from her Cross-Cultural Psychology class. The purpose of the trip is two-fold, to provide for the local homeless and to learn more about Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. In the past students have spent Saturday morning working at Blood N Fire, a homeless shelter. However, when the second group of students arrived in the Fall they found that the shelter had been shut down, so they spent the morning doing odd jobs. The trip to Blood N Fire is organized by a missions agency that is directed by Kelly McDuffie. Kelly is a Milligan alum and close friend of Dr. Mills. Saturday afternoon the students travel to downtown Atlanta, to pay tribute to Martin Luther King Jr. Within a few short steps of each other are Dr. King's and his wife Coretta Scott King's tombs, the original Ebenezer Baptist Church, where Dr. King was a pastor, and the Martin Luther King Jr. National Historic Site. On Sunday morning, students attend church at the new Ebenezer Baptist Church, located across the street from the original, which has since been turned into a museum.

“ I was so taken by the church service because it was completely infused with passion. The topic of the sermon was not that profound or complex, it was a message I've heard many times before, but it was so great because it was so full of passion and life. “

- Leslie Johnson

“ Seeing over 200 beds in one place and knowing they are all full every night really opens your eyes to just how many people are homeless, and that wasn't the only shelter in town.”

- Heather Cramer

 The Eternal Flame symbolizes the continuing effort to realize Dr. King's ideals for the "Beloved Community" which requires lasting personal commitment that cannot weaken when faced with obstacles.

*"I loved Ebenezer so much that when our youth group took a trip to Atlanta I took the kids to Ebenezer to experience it! We all loved it! It was awesome to see the emotion and passion the people of Ebenezer possessed."
 - Meghan Graham*

*"Going on this trip really had an impact on my life. Before I went there, I didn't realize what homeless people went through. I think today we need to share God to every homeless person and help them as much as we can. Who knows, you might be helping an angel in disguise."

 "And now abide Faith, Hope, Love, These Three; but the greatest of these is Love."

*"I remember meeting a man at the homeless shelter who made blankets out of scraps of fabric he found, and he even made one blanket all out of men's ties. He sent the blankets to people he knew all around the country. He measured out his dimensions with markings on the cold, concrete floor. It was amazing."

WOMEN'S VOLLEYBALL

Senior Tara Earhart was named to the 2006 All-Appalachian Athletic Conference volleyball team. Earhart, a co-captain of the Lady Buffs, led the team with 303 kills on the season. Earhart, as well as four other Lady Buffs, was also selected to the 2006 All-Academic team. The others included; Morgan Hyatt, Alison Langrel, Erin Lock and Emily Rigney.

The Lady Buffs finished the season with a record of 13-21.

Res. Life Week

Hart Hall started off Res. Life Week with a Battle of the Classes. Numerous competitions were held in which students from different classes competed against each other. On Tuesday night Webb Hall sponsored Appalachian Appreciation Night, paying homage to the local culture. There was a cow tongue throwing contest and even a live pig and baby chicks. Sutton and Williams Hall hosted the Second Annual Sutton Star Search on Wednesday. Chilly weather caused the festivities to be moved inside and Sutton lobby was packed with viewers. On Thursday Kegley and Quillen Halls created an Amazing Race across Johnson City. The week concluded with The Ending Up in concert in Hart lobby, with a bonfire and smores outside.

Dance the Night Away

This year was a first for students at Milligan as the SGA and campus administration voted to allow structured and organized dances on campus. However, the first dance of the year, the fall formal, was held off campus at the traditional Carnegie Hall. But on campus dancing did become the norm as several times throughout the academic year

Dave Taylor's Cafeteria and House of Food was transformed into Disco Alley. During each event, there was moderate turn out, and the feed-back from the students confirmed that the on-campus dances were indeed fun. More dances, more campus locations, and more fun are all part of the plans for the future.

Spirit week

The only week you won't be made fun of for dressing weird.

"Spirit Week was brought back to Milligan this year. SGA decided that they wanted to make Homecoming week full of energy and excitement for the student body and allow the students to express a sense of pride in our school. We decided to have each day be a different theme and there were prizes for the best dressed for each day. This allowed students to participate throughout the week in showing their school pride not only during the weekend. The participation was high and SGA is looking forward to the Spirit Weeks in year to come."

Undeclared Since 1950," t-shirts premiered during Homecoming weekend. They were a big hit, especially with the alumni. Many current students were not even aware that Milligan used to have a football team.

We did this by giving them extra candy," Micahel said. Photo

I really love zombie movies, so it was just the natural choice for me to chose this costume. To make the costume I applied liquid latex on my skin where I wanted it to look like I had a wound. After a couple coats I would let it dry and then pick at it in the desired shape. Then I would add some make up and a lot of fake blood, mostly corn syrup, red and blue food dye, as well as cocoa. Then for my clothes I just had some polyester numbers lying around that I used" - Daniel Rogers (Above)

TRACK & CROSS COUNTRY

“It is difficult to recount all of the successes of the Men and Women’s Cross Country and Track Teams this year. The Lady Buffs led the way with their fourth straight AAC Conference and Region XII Championship titles, qualifying them for the National Championships in Louisville, KY. Entering the race ranked 8th in the nation, the Lady Buffs turned heads as they came away with a 6th place finish at Nationals. This is the highest finish at a national competition by any Milligan athletic team ever. The women were also named NAIA Women’s Scholar All-American Team due to their outstanding performance in the classroom. The men’s team also ended the season successfully, with a third place finish in the Conference and a 4th place finish at the Regional Championships. The men made their appearance at the National Championships with two individual qualifiers: Jair Collie and Will Frye.

During the Indoor Track season, the success was just as plentiful. Milligan hosted the NAIA Indoor Track and Field National Championships at ETSU’s facility for the 7th straight year. The men and women showed their talent yet again, with 8 All-American finishes. The women’s team also received the NAIA Indoor Track and Field National Champions of Character Team Award. Now, with the outdoor season heading into the final stretch, 7 athletes have qualified for Outdoor Track and Field Nationals that will be held in Fresno, CA on May 24-26. The team is hoping for another outstanding performance at this national competition.

In addition to the enormous amount of athletic accomplishments, the men and women also launched the “Buffalo Task Force,” as an initiative to get more involved in campus, community, and global issues. The team volunteered hours at the Melting Pot together, ushered the Scholarship 5K race on campus during Homecoming weekend, repainted the youth floor of Munsey Memorial Church, and helped pack clothes for Master Provisions’ clothing drive. The team also hosted their second running clinic on Milligan’s campus for area kids to learn more about the sport, Milligan College, and the Lord that we serve. For their global involvement, the team now sponsors a child through Compassion International, and also donated new and used shoes to One World Running which sends the shoes to Third World countries. The team hopes to set an example for other Milligan athletic teams, showing that they can get involved and make a difference on campus, in the community, and in other areas of the world.”

Multicultural Awareness Week

International Club

1967 - Listed among Milligan's clubs offered that year is the International Club, a sort of precursor to this year's Multicultural Awareness Week and new Office of Diversity.

Above: JC Thomas, director of diversity relations at Rochester College, spoke in Lower Seeger and at chapel on November 6th and 7th, 2007, as a part of Multi-Cultural Awareness Week. Thomas told the audience, "embracing diversity isn't an option or a nicety. The failure to not embrace it is a thing called sin." Thomas memorably stated, "We're just a lump of dirt. Ain't no such thing as a pretty lump of dirt. [God] looked at us lumps of dirt and sent Christ to elevate us from being just a lump of dirt to the people of God." The rest of the week included other multi-cultural events such as international food tasting, a movie showing and discussion. In the spring of 2007, Milligan hired Nathaniel Moultrie as the Director of Diversity to "enhance and promote a social, cultural and educational environment that embraces ethnic diversity." 1967 - The Young Republicans and Young Democrats Clubs probably were just as excited about the tallying of the votes as the students are today.

Yes, Milligan has always had a group of students on campus who love and are involved in politics. This year was no exception, with Senate and House elections. The election party at Milligan of 2006 happened in SUB7 with a projector hooked up to a TV feed and at least two other TVs to show the results of the election. Pizza, chips and drinks were supplied.

MEN'S SOCCER

“A whole summer and four months of hard work have brought us this far. All the running with intervals of 2-minute water breaks have finally brought us to Daytona Beach. We are finally here: the place which has been our goal all season long. Just the thought about being at the National Tournament, makes us feel “fantastic.”

It is the night for the parade and we are walking on the field as we hear the commentator say something like, “For the first time at the National Tournament, Milligan College.” Hearing that we are the first team in the school’s history to accomplish such a feat brings about a feeling of pride in all the hard work that we have put in throughout the season. As we stand in the line, we look around to take a view of the other teams. It did not take a long stare for us to realize that we were one of the few teams with the majority of its players being Americans. Some of the men on the other teams were much bigger than our biggest player (such as M.J. or Fode). Down the line, there was a guy who was at least 6 feet, 7 inches. A look at the other teams can make one to think that we did not deserve to be at Daytona. But a look inside our hearts will convince any doubters that the Milligan Men’s Soccer team has earned the right to be among the few teams still playing in November. Our hearts, (and not our bodies or the number of international players), have brought us this far, and our hearts will carry us even farther than we imagined.

We were at Daytona because we had hearts that were willing to fight through every obstacle, and we did have many obstacles on our way. We had an obstacle in the form of injuries to players. But we overcame this obstacle, by other players such as J. Fuller stepping in to play other positions. Seniors had to sit on the bench while freshmen played, but they never complained about playing time. Instead they encouraged the freshmen. Goalies who could have started on other teams accepted roles of being back up. Our bodies have battled summer heat and the cold nights of autumn, but we never gave up because we had hearts that would not quit.

Our hearts were not always filled with “work.” We had rooms in our hearts for fun times. Some of these memories came in the form of Negoussie After Dark in which bus rides turned into a Karaoke-hip pop tour bus. We had fun making up words to Swedish techno songs which Marcus taught us. We had fun making fun of Africans who rarely arrived on time to practice. We had fun anytime we chanted African-native songs (which most of us do not know what they mean) along with the student body. We had fun in knowing that we were probably the only team in the whole country with a Harley motorcycle as one of its cheerleaders.

Right now, the 2006 season is written in history books, but that season will not be known as just fact. It was that season that taught us that, our hearts can carry us farther that we imagined.”

WOMANS SOCCER

We had high hopes about the season coming back in this past fall. We didn't have many returning players but we figured we would be fine regardless. However, in the first game we experienced our first setback. Someone became injured and she was out for the rest of the season. We had a crazy schedule and losing one person would definitely hurt us.

After the first game, which we lost horribly, we realized this would be a hard season. One game after another we lost by only one goal to many teams that were nationally ranked. Houghton, a team that was ranked 3rd nationally at the time, beat us 2-1 by a goal that was handed to them by the referee. While we lost game after game by one goal, the guy's soccer team won game after game by one or two goals. At the same time we were happy for them, we were also jealous of them. They had that champion's luck with them that we were lacking.

Everybody worked hard and wanted to do better, but it was like each half of the game the switch was either on or off. We had no way of explaining our inconsistency but it was there regardless. We all knew we had potential and the skill to be ranked and make it far but we weren't able to do what we were capable of.

Toward the end of the season our spirit was down, especially for us seniors thinking this was it and it was not what we wanted it to be. We pulled ourselves up and got a good result from our last game before the finals. We beat Berry 2-0, a team that was ranked 20th in the nation. We were confident going into the tournament where we knew we would meet Covenant, the best team in our conference. We knew we could win, they knew as well that we could beat them so everything pointed to a good game. When we got the top of the mountain where we play, the conditions were horrible. No sane person would want to play in that weather. However, we did not have a choice and the game seemed more like water polo with our feet instead of soccer. We lost 2-0 but it could just as well have gone the other way if luck had been on our side. That was not the end of our unfortunate events. We were one point away from making it to the regional tournament because we had had such a hard schedule. That was yet another disappointment.

Overall our season was not bad. We played some really good teams and got good results. All of us worked hard and gave what we had but in the end we did not have all the ingredients to make a championship team.

The NMC this year was in Indianapolis, Indiana and it was a great convention where I was introduced to numerous mission opportunities in the states and abroad. Through the workshops and main sessions I was able to catch a glimpse of God's love for the nations and become oriented to his desire to have all peoples come into a relationship with him. Through conferences such as these, God has been powerfully transforming my heart into one that pleases Him, so I am very grateful for these mission education opportunities."

It was a great time. The atmosphere at the convention was filled with passion. This great passion left you feeling encouraged and excited. It was awesome just to get a glimpse of how Christ's work is being done by his people around the world. This trip also gave me the chance to connect with fellow Milligan students and see the passions that God has given us as a community." - Richard Riddle

SPRING

*is in the air everywhere I look

...and Milligan College is no exception. Spring fever hit the campus hard as hearts were filled with excitement over the warm weather, progress towards the completion of the new Liberal Arts Center, and the ever mysterious Wonderful Wednesday. Thus the campus was eager and ready to spring into action!

CLOTHING DRIVE FOR THE UKRAINE WITH MASTER PROVISIONS A ISL JR. SERVICE PROJECT

“ This year, the ISL juniors were allowed to choose a service project that they would like to undertake for this school year. They decided that they wanted to do something that would involve the Milligan community as well as those communities surrounding Milligan. Many options were considered, but the final decision was to sponsor and manage a clothing drive with the group Master’s Provisions for the country of Ukraine. Master’s Provisions is lead by Roger Babik, whose daughter, Lydia Babik, was on the ISL juniors team. Master’s Provisions collects clothing then ships it to the Ukraine (and other countries around the world) where it is distributed to widows and orphans and then sent to thrift stores that have been set up, which provides employment as well as affordable clothing for the people. The juniors’ goal was to collect a semi full of clothing, so area churches were contacted and trash bins were set up around campus for students and faculty to donate their clothes. After all the clothes were collected along with another semi full brought down by Mr. Babik, Friday and Saturday--March 29th and 30th--volunteers sorted and packed the clothes. Students were asked to sign up in two hour shift periods, however they were welcomed to sign up for as many shift as they would like. SFP credit was also given for every two hours spent helping. Clothes were sorted, throwing out stained and holey clothing, and repacking into 100 pound bags. These were then loaded into the semis. Come Saturday afternoon--two hours ahead of schedule--all the clothes were packed into the two huge semis. It ended with a prayer and a word of congratulations from Mr. Babik on a great job done. There was a good turn out of students coming to help serve alongside their fellow students. “

Highlights from MLK Jr. Day of Service

Photos by: Ryan Harris, Brian Goad, Aimee Stone, Erika Fox, and company. Thanks for coming out and supporting our community. You made an impact!

Milligan continued a new tradition--now in it's fourth year--of having a day of service in honor of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. The first event, held in 2004, began on January 20th the tradition of a convocation in honor of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. It was considered a day off of school to serve in the community. There was also a four day focus on servant leadership that week. In 2005 students got January 18th off for service, and agencies in the community were contacted to have groups of students come and volunteer for that day. In 2006, according to the Stampede article from that year, there were 18 activities offered and 300 students participated. This year convocation was led by Rev. Danny Johnson of Thankful Baptist Church, which was followed immediately by a brunch in the cafeteria. After brunch, students left campus to serve in many areas of the community. This year students signed up to help in 24 different organizations.

Milligan College has been involved in several sevice projects in the past including: In 1999, Milligan had a Student for Life Club, organized as a "voice for those without a voice, unborn babies." They joined a March for Life in Washington D.C. streets, trying to stop partial birth abotions. In 1998 for the second time groups from Milligan took trips to Cranks Creek in Harlan, Kentucky and Roan Mountain communities. Students worked with the Cranks Creek Survival Center making trips to the poverty stricken creek. Roan Mountain got hit bad that year by a storm that left many homeless. Milligan students began a clean up mission to help the residents recover.

Milligan also offers many clubs that are involved with service to the community. MLK Jr. Day will continue in the tradtition of Service: leading the whole campus in a day of service, instilling community, and a chance to find a place to serve.

Milligan's original production of The Gospel According to Jazz debuted during the fall semester, and continued on during the spring semester as the production was selected as a finalist by the Kennedy Center American College Theatre Festival. The cast held encore performances to help fund their trip to GA to compete in the competition.

Peppy and poignant, the 'Gospel' combined the story of Jesus Christ with the disaster of hurricane Katrina to offer a message of hope. Jesus was portrayed as a social worker helping those in need, and his disciples were a motley crew of volunteers helping to rebuild the city.

The production featured Milligan's jazz band as well as Broadway vocalist Loretta Bowers. Full of hope, spectacular jazz music, and high energy dance scenes, the production left an impact on the audience.

Director Richard Major said, "('Gospel') offers a message of hope that rings through loud and clear without being preachy." He was pleased with the success of the production and with the reviews the cast received from the KCACTF competition.

This year Milligan's art and classes were busy. In January the Sub housed a creative exhibit from a program called Bridging Cultures which provided basic cameras and photography lessons to 18 students from Unicoi and Greene counties. The photographers, ages 11 to 18, had nearly 60 photographs of pets, family members and landscapes displayed in simple wooden frames. Sophomore Chuck Rector and senior Julie Simerly, to helped teach the aspiring photographers every other saturday beginning in August and lasting throughout the school year.

In February the Nelson had its fourth annual "Art form the Buffalo school" exhibit. Students were allowed to submit work they had done and Milligan students were encouraged to come and see the works of their fellow students. Also featured throughout the year have been many Photography displays in Sub 7, along with art shows in lower Derthick.

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

Milligan College's sophomore Rikki Baughman was named to the All-Appalachian Athletic Conference (AAC) first team at the AAC awards ceremony. Baughman finished the regular season leading the Lady Buffs in points, rebounds, blocks, steals, field-goal percentage and free-throw percentage. She led the AAC in the rebounding category and finished ninth in scoring. Nationally, Baughman ranks third with a 90.3 free-throw percentage and fifth in total rebounds and defensive rebounds (7.5) per game.

Senior Kacie Letterman was named to the All-AAC defensive team while Brit White was placed on the All-AAC freshmen team.

Candace Shelton and Rose Pezzimenti earned spots on the Academic All-AAC team.

The entire Lady Buffs' squad also earned an award during the ceremony. The team was named Co-Champions of Character along with Montreat (N.C.) College.

The Lady Buffs finished with an 11-7 conference record
The Lady Buffs ended the regular season with an overall record of 18-12.

“This past season has flown by incredibly fast. I have many memories on and off the court. When I try to recall individual games, they seem to just run together. Game situations change; you win some, you lose some. Some games are boring, others are nail-biting. Some games made me happy, others left me frustrated. I can't remember the final score of most of the games. But looking back, what I remember are my teammates, coaching staff and the wonderful fans. You were always constant, win or lose. I will miss you all. Go Lady Buffs! Thankyou for a wonderful season and a memorable four years.”

CAMPUS EVENTS

Milligan College is extraordinary and good at ensuring that students have plenty of events to participate in, whether it is watching fellow students perform in the annual One Act Festival, or watching their favorite professor cook them an omelet during the midnight breakfast, or even playing a game of pick-up ultimate frisbee. These events help students build the community that Milligan is known for, and include not just students but faculty and staff as well. Some of these events include a Men's Weekend Retreat activated by Dr. John-Paul Abner, and the Dragon Boat races held during the early fall. Milligan also brings in nationally and globally renowned artists and speakers to expose students to the vast talent and organizations and opportunities available to them anywhere in the world. Yet it is not just the Milligan administration, faculty, and staff who plan these events. Students take the initiative and plan campus wide events through the SGA, as well as through campus organizations. This is just another reason of why Milligan has a community through and through.

The faculty on campus holds a place near and dear to all of our hearts. Whether they are in the classroom, participating in campus events, or hosting get-togethers at their own homes, each and every faculty member plays their part in this Milligan community. Without the faculty, Milligan would not be Milligan. The faculty are much more than just teachers, they are our friends, advisors, confidants, and much more. They join us as we play frisbee and as we dine. They invite us to join them in their homes for dinner, and sometimes for a place to crash. The faculty at Milligan are more than professors--they are family.

MIENS TENNIS

The 2007 Milligan College men's and women's tennis teams had a new coach, but a familiar face to Milligan with Ron Worrell. He returned to his Alma Mater after spending eight seasons coaching at Virginia Intermont College and Brevard College. He also brought a wealth of experience to the Buffs' and Lady Buffs' tennis programs.

The Buffaloes finished 2006 with a 6-9 overall record and lost in the opening round of the AAC tournament to Tennessee Wesleyan College. Milligan returned four players from the 2006 squad, which includes the Johnson City duo of Tom Jones and Ryan Reynolds, both of whom earned All-AAC honors last year. To go along with Jones and Reynolds, Worrell brought in two Australians to the line up, Johnathan Ryan and Charles Williams. Ryan and Williams made an immediate impact at the ITA Regional tournament and they were ranked the No. 21 doubles team in the last ITA rankings.

WOMENS TENNIS

The Lady Buffs finished third in the Appalachian Athletic Conference with a 6-2 conference record, but lost to UVA in the semifinals to see their season come to an end. Worrell will work with seven returning players, but the lone loss of last year's team was All-AAC team member Cassie Lomison. Among the returnees are Amber Campbell and Krissi Denton. Campbell was an honorable mention All-AAC performer last year. Denton and freshman standout Melissa Grgat made an impressive run in the ITA Southeast Regional tournament in September and the duo is currently ranked No. 18 by the ITA nationally.

Construction

Elizabeth Leitner Gregory Center

for the Liberal Arts

The whole 2006-2007 academic year included ongoing construction on Milligan's newest building project. The new facility will include a 290-seat theatre auditorium and the necessary backstage support, staging, workshop for theatre classes, and darkrooms for photography students. As a convocation center, the auditorium also will be used for the college's Humanities program, academic lecture series, and various campus community events. The building is anticipated to be completed sometime in late 2007.

Cafeteria Renovations

"I'm pleased to announce that Milligan has partnered with Pioneer College Caterers to remodel and enhance the food service options for students, beginning in Fall 2007. Our goal is to have the dining hall become another community-oriented Student Life space, where students can visit with each other, study mid-day, or grab a bite with friends at their convenience....We hope that collectively these changes will better serve our students while providing an enhanced opportunity for fellowship and community."

-Don Jeanes, President

Renovations Include:

Dining Hall Remodel - Remodeling the interior space of McCormick Dining Hall to provide contemporary seating, with booths, lounge chairs, stool tables, and 4-top cafe tables; carpeted flooring; new lighting; new dish return; and customized service areas. These changes will help create a more community-focused environment and be less institutional.

Continuous Service - To accommodate students' busy schedules, the dining hall will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Students can come and go as fits their schedule and even stay as long as they like when visiting with friends. A complete meal program will be offered during traditional breakfast, lunch, and dinner hours. At other times, the deli bar, pizza station, soup and salad bar, desserts, cereal bars, and other stations will always be available. All students will have the same food plan option and have unlimited access to the dining services.

Higher Quality - A commitment to providing higher quality food. This includes subs and sandwiches made to order, freshly prepared pizza and pasta, entrees made to order, pastry table, and carved roasted meats.

Late Night Service - Exchange meals will be available in the Grill from 7:30 a.m. to 11 p.m. Current restrictions to a fixed menu have been eliminated, providing students with a greater flexibility in menu selection. The Grab & Go selection will also be expanded.

Terrific Thursday

Back to the 50's...

This year's annual Wonderful Wednesday event was held on Thursday, April 12th with the theme of "Back to the 50's." To compliment that theme, the holiday started off Wednesday evening with 50's Bowling, and followed into the next morning with the traditional brunch decorated like a 50's diner, and into the evening with a drive-in movie. The whole day included many more of the traditional events, including games, water slide, food and milk chugging.

Then and Now

Every student, and especially faculty and staff, knows that Milligan has changed over the years. We all see the subtle changes over the days, but not many of us realize some of the crazy differences between the decades. This spread highlights just a few of the changes and differences between Milligan then and now.

"MATURE. WISE. IT'S ALL ABOUT ME. These were some characteristics and mind sets that I had as a young seventeen year old high school graduate on my first days here at Milligan. Every notion that I had created in my mind quickly vanished after a few months of being at Milligan. It may have been the Humanities classes or Business classes that made me realize that I was not at all wise. It may have been my relationships that I had built with friends, professors, and mentors that allowed me to see how much growth and work I needed before I could call myself mature. It may have been the opportunity to experience different cultures and be able to see the world and for the first time realize that it is not all about me. Within these past four years my life has changed and I am thankful for it. I am grateful for those who have and will also continue to shape and mold

Dear Krissi and Rob,

Since the days you were born we have watched you grow into a wonderful Christian woman and man. All along the way we have been so proud of your accomplishments. Then as we sat down together to compile these pictures we realized how parallel your lives have always been. We see now that God always planned your life together. Even your differences compliment each other. We are very proud of both of you, proud of your educational and Christian achievements and proud of you as a couple. We look forward to you spending the rest of your lives together. We look forward to our extended families. Best of Luck to you with your graduation and your engagement.

My Dear Jennie,

It has been fun watching you grow and mature through all the different stages in your life. How wonderful it is that you are now receiving your college degree. No one can ever take away your educational experience and all of the benefits you will receive. As you are now ready to embark on a new adventure called the "real world", I wish you happiness and love in all you accomplish in your future endeavors. I am proud of you and know that you will be a wonderful asset to the medical profession. Keep a positive attitude and you can always call on me if you need a "sermonette" or two.

Much Love, Aunt Toni

Jennie,

It is wonderful to see the next generation of our family headed toward a successful future. We are proud of you, and wish you continued success in the next steps toward your career in the field of medicine. Stay on the path.

Love Uncle Tim and Aunt Pauline

To My Big Sister

I am so proud of you. You are setting an example for generations to come. I love you with all my heart! I am looking forward to you taking care of me when I get old!

Love Raychel

Dear Jennie,

It seems like yesterday that you and I drove from Los Angeles, Ca. across the country to Milligan College, Tenn. I will never forget that journey and that I finally had faith in your ability to drive long distances.

Here are some of the Dreams you wrote down in 2002:

To hike up a big mountain, To swim with the dolphins, To write a book, To kiss under a waterfall, To paint a mural, To have communion in Jerusalem, To become a NURSE, To eat in Paris, To bring someone to Jesus, To fall in love, To go to a tropical rainforest, to go sky diving, To live in a different country.

You have already achieved some of your dreams and now you are a Graduate of Milligan College. You are heading for Duke University! Wow!

I am so proud of the way you have shared your experiences in working at Johnson City Hospital while going to college. You have shown compassion towards your patients and displayed a desire to continue your dream to help others. I am so proud of you. I am so glad that you have chosen your favorite verse "I can do all things through Christ who strengthens me." Phil.4:13 There are no boundaries because you have found the key to life ~ faith in God.

I love you! Mother

Jennie, You are such a cool person! As a sweet and caring girl who has truly applied herself to the job at hand in college, it is wonderful to see you having such great success. We all love you and will enjoy following you in the next chapter.

All the best to you, Love Uncle Rick

To Jennie,

Congratulations! Your road of life has sometimes been steep and difficult. But you caught a vision of a better life—a life of service to others. It was a dream—a hope. Education was necessary to fulfillment of that dream. Milligan College provided the opportunity for the skills necessary to the dream. Many who start on such a journey never finish. You not only achieved your immediate goal, you redrew the map of your life, enlarged the vision, and are on your way to Duke. God bless you. Be true to your best dream. I am proud of you.

Grandpa Taylor

Jennie, we are happy for all the achievements you have accomplished while attending Milligan College. May God guide you in your future days as you reach your goals.

With Much Love, Grandma Taylor

Jan,

We are so proud of you, not only in your academic accomplishments, but in all aspects of your life. You are such a joy to everyone who knows you. There is a bright and shining light inside that you freely share with others. You have paved the road to your future with hard work and determination. You will continue to succeed in all your ventures. We would say good luck to you, but luck has nothing to do with you reaching your potential. That has been your goal all along. We will say thank you for letting us ride along with you on your journey and tell you we love you with all our hearts.

Mom, Dad, Jake, Kimmy and Karen

Stephen,

You have given us such pleasure as we have watched you grow into an amazing man. We are so excited about your future, not because of the success we know you will achieve, but for the fact that you understand that success is the peace you find in your decisions.

Stay strong in your convictions, determined in your direction, and forever search the Scriptures to know both.

We are so proud of you.
Love, Dad and Mom

Stephen,

Your drive to be successful in all that you attempt has always been a trait that I have looked up to.

Congratulations.
Joshua

Amber,

Like Daddy always said "You're my sunshine, sugar plum, honey comb!" And now you're our little RN!

We Love You &
Thank God for You!

Congratulations!

Dad, Mom, &
Adam

Colophon:

The Book:

The Buffalo, Volume 83, was produced by the yearbook staff at Milligan College in Milligan College, TN and was printed by Herff Jones, Inc. in Charlotte, NC. The account was serviced by representative Abby DePalma and customer service adviser Carolyn Parker. The theme, Past - Present - Future, was developed by the yearbook staff. The cover was designed by Brian Goad and incorporated a full color permocote onto a litho matte lamination. The endsheets are printed on White Standard VibraColor paper stock. The book's 128 pages are printed on Bordeaux 80 pound paper stock. The 2006 volume includes 128 pages in full color. Body copy was set in 12 pt. AHJ Maple, and various other fonts. The main Sports Headline font was Stencil. Layouts were submitted to the plant on CD. The Buffalo was produced using Adobe® InDesign® CS2, on Microsoft® Windows XP® based computers with 1 GB RAM with 80 GB hard drives. Digital photos were taken with 4-10 megapixel digital cameras. Professional portraits were provided by Best Portraits Photography. The 650 copies of the book were distributed in September of 2007.

The Staff:

Thanks for your help this year! Alli, you have been a wonderful assistant, thank you so much for your time, hard work, and dedication. You are one of the reasons this yearbook came through. Jan, thanks for coming on staff again and helping us out in the bind we were in with portraits. You have great ideas and dedication to get the job done. I hope your life after graduation is a success. Aimee, thanks for doing a great job on your pages and keeping us organized during our monthly brainstorming sessions with your student handbook. Bailey, thanks for your work with the Senior Ads. You did a good job keeping things organized and parents happy. Ryan, thanks for giving us great pictures to use. You have an awesome talent with photography, thanks for your willingness to split those duties between yearbook and the Stampede. Kayla, thanks for the work you did during the first semester. Planning a wedding is indeed more important than yearbook. Abby, thanks for being our yearbook representative! You have done an awesome job, and thanks for working with us during all of those insane jams that we seem to get ourselves in. I know that you have put in more effort than you are required--thank you so much. Mr. Dahlman, thanks for being our advisor, and taking care of the PR and money issues. And thank you for your good journalistic advice.

The Reader:

Thanks for your time reading and enjoying this book. The staff and I hope that you have enjoyed your journey looking at the Past, Present, and Future of Milligan College.
